JERSEY CITY FIRE LOSS TOTALS MILLIONS!

ARCH RIVALS TO BATTLE ON GRID

Yale vs. Princeton, Nebraska And Notre Dame, Others To Settle Disputes

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Arch rivals of intercollegiate football will go to the mat tomorrow in one of the biggest days on the gridiron calendar for 1924.

It will inaugurate the open season on traditional enemies, and if there is any skull cracking to be done among the leaders, tomorrow will see it accomplished.

Day's Schedule

Witness, for example, the following meetings between teams that have been rivals of prolonged standing:

Yale and Princeton, Notre Dame and Nebraska, Ohio State and Michigan, Pennsylvania and Penn State, Cornell and Dartmouth, Pittsburgh and W. &. J., Kansas and Oklahoma, Grinnell and Iowa State, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt, Alabama and Centre college, Georgia and Alabama Poly.

These constitute the big moments of a football schedule. They feature most of the undefeated sectional leaders, Yale, Pennsylvania, Notre Dame, Dartmouth, Alabama, et. al., in what may prove to be the roughest stretch of road they may face on their way to a possible championship. Other leaders, Illinois, California, Stanford and Rutgers, should enjoy what is technically known as "breathers."

Stanford vs. Montana; California Meets Nevada

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Football this coming Saturday comes in the nature of an appetizer for the big game on November 22 between Stanford and California. Stanford will take on Montana, while California takes on Nevada.

The Sagehens from Nevada, under tutelage of Charles Erb, erstwhile star backfield of the Gold and Blue, are expected to give Andy Smith's Bears a close tussle. One tie on the season's record of the Bears had whetted up their appetites for revenge on the Nevadans.

Game at Los Angeles

Down on the farm, Montana, though thrice beaten, will put up a whale of a game. The Cardinals need a thorough scare to shake them into the proper fighting mood for next Saturday. Possibly, for the purpose of permitting just such a thing to happen, Coach Warner is shifting his backfield considerably for the game.

The clash of University of Southern California with Whittier at Los Angeles is in the nature of a "soft spot" preparatory to the clash of the southern institution with Idaho next Saturday.

Oregon and Washington State's meeting at Portland will be watched by conference followers with principal interest this week.

Mrs. Harding Suffers Attack of 'Air Hunger'

MARION, Ohio, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Warren G. Harding suffered a bad heart spell last night, but was better this morning. Today her attending physician referred to the attack as "air hunger." She has suffered similar attacks in the past, but none has been so prolonged or severe. It was necessary to throw open wide all windows and doors to her room.

Check Firearms at Door Is Orders In Capital of Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 14. Members of the next Mexican Chamber of Deputies will be asked to check their firearms at the door.

President-elect Calles indicated today that this edict would be one of his first acts after taking office. He will take this means of putting a stop to affrays such as resulted in the death of deputy Gonzales Guerrero and the wounding of Luis Morones in the fusillade of shots in the chamber Wednesday night. Eighteen others have been wounded in shootings in the Chamber of Deputies in the last two years.

Expulsion will be the penalty for deputies who will not conform to the proposed ruling. The president-elect indicated that he would also impose severe penalties on deputies engaging in duels.

EXPECTS FEW CABINET CHANGES

Coolidge Has No Desire to Disrupt Organization, Says Lawrence

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—There was no confirmation at the White House today of reports that cabinet officers in addition to Secretary of Labor Davis planned to resign on March 4.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur has been named in rumors during the day as one of those whose resignations would soon be forthcoming.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Reshaping the cabinet of President Coolidge is becoming the chief diversion of the politicians who fought the campaign. It is becoming, at the same time, the chief source of worry to some of the incumbents who do not know whether they ought to insist on retiring or stay on.

President Coolidge is not likely to ask any man who has done an efficient job to step out simply to meet the needs of political custom. It is doubtful whether he incurred any impelling obligation to any individual. He is, on the other hand, inclined to give recognition for party service for he believes in the stimulus of party organization. Republican administrations have felt that way in the past and have kept the party all powerful by so doing. Mr. Coolidge knows the practical side.

Throughout the country are men who did yeoman service in the campaign, some who contributed funds and actively worked to collect contributions from others, some who worked untiringly in the districts and precincts and counties and states and who have been doing the same for the Republican party campaign after campaign. They who want cabinet portfolios naturally feel that those who hold the jobs at present ought to give others in the party an opportunity.

Inside Pressure

The pressure upon the incumbent cabinet officers to retire will not come from President Coolidge, but from inside the party. Mr. Coolidge feels satisfied with the work of his entire cabinet. He knows the loss of momentum in changes. He is likely therefore to act only upon the resignations which indicate clearly a desire to leave office.

There are two or three cabinet officers particularly who would be urged a second time to stay if they were disposed to leave. Nor is there likely to be any drive for their portfolios by the politicians. These positions are held by Charles Evans Hughes, Herbert Hoover and Andrew W. Mellon. In the department of state, the treasury and the department of commerce, the policies of the administration have been essentially developed by these three cabinet secretaries. The success of those policies depend to no small extent on a continued vigilance by the men now in charge.

Mr. Hughes has the details of foreign policy at his finger tips and knows better than anyone else just now how far America can go in the direction of international co-operation without reviving past controversies and

ALL STOCKS CLIMBING UPWARD

Several New Highs Seen on Wall Street as Heavy Buying Continues

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Operations for the rise continued in industrial and railroad stocks today. Reactions in some sections of the list represented nothing more than the taking of profits and withdrawal of funds in order to make new purchases elsewhere. Railroad stocks were overshadowed by the heavy operations in industrial and specialties in the major portion of which prices continued to rise.

Estimates of October net earnings for some of the important lines afforded a good opportunity of judging the results of the heavy transfer of freight last month and operations over the balance of the year are expected to be of a record breaking character. Stocks of industrial companies connected in any manner with the motor industry scored important gains today, while specialties like Savage Arms continued the spectacular price rise inaugurated earlier in the week. Savage Arms at 81⅞ showed a gain of eighteen points over last week's low.

Oil Stocks Strong

Good buying again featured the oil stocks. The action of the directors of Simms Petroleum in placing that stock on a dividend basis, was accepted in the financial district as another evidence of returning steadiness to the oil industry. Simms sold up to a new high at 19. Marland, Cosden, Phillips and a number of other active independent oils, before yielding to profit-taking, sold at or near the highest level for the current movement. Further increases in prices of crude and gasoline were reported.

Shipping stocks reflected the current improvement in the ocean tonnage situation and the prospect for a large interchange of goods between America and Eu-

Pulmotor Unable to Save Life of Child

A pulmotor from the Glendale fire department was rushed to the Glendale Research hospital at 10:45 o'clock this morning, in charge of Al Moniot, acting captain, in an unsuccessful effort to save the life of Little Jeanne De Costa, aged 6 years, of 1206-D Viola street.

No information regarding the case would be given out from the hospital, but it is understood that the child failed to rally from the ether, following an operation. The body was removed to the Kiefer & Eyerick undertaking parlors. No funeral arrangements have been made.

British Cabinet May Consider Russian Note

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The foreign office today qualified its assertion that the question of revocation of trade agreements with Russia was not under consideration by stating that if the cabinet inquiry into the Zinoviev note warranted, the whole question of relations with Russia would be taken up.

The return trip will be made by airplane either late tomorrow afternoon or Sunday morning.

HEAVY VOTE FAILS TO SHOW UP

Final Analysis Indicates Balloting Below That Of 1920 Election

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Revised and virtually complete figures on the presidential election of 1924 today destroyed some of the popular illusions that were held by political observers prior to the national march to the polls on the fourth of November.

For one thing, the popular vote, as now compiled, falls considerably short of the thirty million mark estimated by the various campaign managers, and in the final analysis will barely exceed the 26,000,000 mark established in the Harding-Cox fight four years ago.

These figures show that, despite the strenuous and in many instances non-partisan, efforts to get out the vote, there are still millions of "vote slackers" who refuse to allow a presidential contest to interfere with their pleasure or routine of life.

Unofficial Figures

Official returns from all states are still lacking, but the vote today had been sufficiently tabulated to reveal some interesting facts anent the epochal election of 1924, which will be studied and pored over by the political historian of the future.

James M. Cox has been generally hailed as "the worst beaten" candidate in Democratic history. Yet the final returns for 1924 will give his palm to John W. Davis, despite the fact that his Republican opponent, President Coolidge, ran considerably behind Harding. Davis carried one more state than Cox did, twelve against eleven, but he ran more than a million votes behind Cox in the popular vote.

Unofficial but fairly accurate totals for the 1924 election are Coolidge 14,100,000; Davis 8,000,000; La Follette 4,300,000.

How Coolidge Ran

The vote for minority tickets, such as prohibition, single tax, socialist, labor, American, etc., will be necessary to bring the 1924 popular vote ahead of the 1920 figures.

On this basis of virtually complete tabulations, which all parties agree is probably accurate, it is shown that President Coolidge ran ahead of Harding in seventeen States, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey,

ITALY FACES RIOTS, ONE SLAIN

Anti-Fascist Demonstrations Throughout Country Are Expected

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Italy trembled today on the verge of widespread anti-Fascist demonstrations, dispatches from Rome indicate.

A Fascist deputy was shot in Castellamare on the bay of Naples, and a serious situation existed at Mesagne, near Brindisi, according to dispatches to the Daily Mail. Communists at Mesagne were reported ready to resist armed troops sent to exact reprisals for the destruction of Fascist headquarters.

A semi-official statement, stating that the reported discovery of widespread anti-Fascist plots was erroneous, did not dispel the mystery surrounding the situation. Despite the denial, there were indications that Premier Mussolini is greatly alarmed.

Four Arrested

It was explained the dispatch of warships to San Remo was not in anticipation of further communist outbreaks. Three Fascisti, including the town councillor, were reported wounded at Landriano, near Parma, when communists attacked a Fascisti home.

In the Castellamare fight, former Deputy Imparati, who was a Socialist member of the Chamber of Deputies, shot and killed Fascist Deputy Cosenz, Daily Mail dispatches stated. Imparati was reported in hiding.

Four Communists were arrested in Rome, an agency dispatch stated, after a meeting of extremist elements. It was semi-officially declared that the meeting did not show any evidence of a conspiracy to effect an anti-Fascist coup.

POLICE SEEKING MISSING WOMAN

Dorothy Carroll Disappears After Saying 'Killer' Threatened Life

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—Efforts to solve the mysterious murder of Harry I. Katz, master musician and diamond broker, shot and killed in his luxurious bachelor home here Monday night, were further blocked today when police failed to locate Dorothy Carroll, beautiful alabaster blonde, self-admitted "last sweetheart" of the slain man.

Mrs. Carroll, for whose love Katz and at least four other men had vied, has been missing for three days, following a brief visit to police headquarters where she told a sensational story of having been threatened by a "killer," acting as an agent for a Los Angeles business man she charged with responsibility for Katz' death.

Police sought the young woman as the result of the arrest of Charles E. Carroll, her husband, known as the "barber sheik," and Earl H. Bridges, Carroll's roommate.

Two Are Held

Carroll and Bridges were ordered held as material witnesses in the murder investigation when they made conflicting statements.

When Carroll was questioned he admitted he shot a man named Hughes in Bakersfield two years ago with a .32 automatic pistol after he discovered Hughes with Mrs. Carroll on what he termed "a wild party." According to police, Katz was killed with a bullet from a .32 automatic and a gun of that description was found in Carroll's room. Bridges said it was owned by Carroll.

Three months ago Mrs. Carroll sued for divorce and charged Carroll always carried a revolver and had threatened her life.

Wow! Real Money Will Be Paid by The Evening News For Limericks! Get Busy!

All right, folks! Let's go! Everything's set for The Glendale Evening News limerick contest! The Glendale Evening News recently announced a "funny" contest, then was compelled to postpone it before the details could be given to the public. In the meantime, some readers sent in "funnies" before the rules and regulations were announced. Now everything is ready for the big limerick contest, with cash prizes to be awarded.

Everyone, of course, knows limericks—those rollicking little rhymes that mix most anything with humor. Now then, The Glendale Evening News will pay $3 for the best limerick received on or before midnight of Monday, November 17, 1924. It will pay $2 for the next best and $1 for the third best received on or before that date.

All limericks must be addressed to: LIMERICK CONTEST EDITOR, The Glendale Evening News, 139 South Brand, and must be signed with name and address of composer. None will be returned. The prize winners and a number of the other best limericks submitted will be published. And, remember this: Where more than one person sends in a prize-winning limerick, the one WHO SENDS IT FIRST will get the prize. So goad the old bean up a bit and make it zippy!

And there you have it! The limericks may be about Glendale; they may be about ANYTHING! They must be snappy! According to the late Mr. Webster, a limerick is "a nonsense poem of five anapaestic lines (whatever they are!) of which lines one, two and five are of three feet and rhyme, and lines three and four are of two feet, and rhyme." And Daniel and his neat little book about the English language are perfectly right about it. But, a limerick is a lilting laugh, with more or less logic and a luscious kick in it, as well, and that's why everybody likes 'em. Its story may be trivial or it may be tragic, but it must swing along in the proper rhythm, and it must have the "kick" at climax. Like that limerick of the fall of poor Ching Ling, for instance:

A Chinaman, named Ching Ling,
Fell off a trolley car, BING!
The con. turned his head
And looked back, and said:
Car's lost a washer! Ding! Ding!

After all, the fundamental theme of the funniest limericks often is tragedy, just as in real for-sure-enough life. The things that worry us sick today may act just as effectively on our risibles tomorrow, or the reverse, as in that aromatic tale of the city chap:

There was a young man from the city
Who petted what looked like a kitty;
But, later that night,
By the moon's fading light,
He buried his clothes. What a pity!

The cycle of life, or its most trivial fallacies, may supply the meat in that poetical hash, the limerick. Almost anyone can mix them. An idea, an opening line, absurd conclusions and the trick is turned. Try it, in your mental stew-pot. The theme may be as ridiculous as this one:

Aunt Julia, she sat on the jury.
Their stupidity filled her with fury.
In their arguments, tall,
She saw no sense at all,
So, Aunt Julia, she sat on the jury!

Then, again, a limerick may be but a play on words and still be funny. Double meaning stuff! One of those asinine assertions that say one thing and imply another, with equal accuracy, like:

A fickle young flapper, named Anna,
Got mixed up in a flood, in Montana.
She floated away, and
Her sister, they say,
Accompanied her, on the piano.

Now, you think up some! As many as you like. Mail them to the LIMERICK CONTEST EDITOR, then arrange to spend the prize money.

Everyone who reads this announcement is invited to participate in the fun. Get a flock of friends together, start a first line, let each one add another, and you'll have a limerick. So, don't stand outside with an eye at a knothole. C'm'on in! 'S gonna be hilarious!

COUNSEL SUMS UP DOHENY DEFENSE

Hogan Denies Impropriety In Friendship of Client And Albert Fall

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—Heatedly denying there was anything improper in the friendly relations between Edward L. Doheny, head of the Pan-American Petroleum Co., and former Secretary of the Interior A. B. Fall during the negotiations which led to the government granting the Doheny company valuable leases in the Elk Hills naval reserve, Frank J. Hogan, chief counsel for Doheny, today began the defense argument in the federal court trial of the government's suit to cancel the leases.

Giving a far different interpretation to the facts of the case as brought out in testimony heard during the past three weeks than offered by the government attorneys, Hogan launched into an address to Federal Judge Paul J. McCormick which was expected to continue throughout the day.

FACTORY AND TENEMENT DISTRICT DAMAGED

Many Families Homeless as Flames Sweeps Onward; Number Injured

BULLETIN

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 14.—Fire which raged through five city blocks, destroying factories and tenements, injuring fifty and making 2,000 families homeless, was brought under control this afternoon after firemen had fought desperately for almost six hours to save the entire downtown industrial section.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 14.—With fire boats playing streams of water upon freight and coal yards of the Lehigh Valley railroad, endangered by fire and with help speeding to the city from half a dozen other municipalities, firemen of Jersey City fought with desperation this afternoon to check a conflagration which, after three hours, still raged beyond control to the north, east and south, threatening the entire downtown industrial district.

Damage done by the blaze has gone far into the millions, fire department officials said. Hundreds are homeless and virtually penniless. The frame dwellings in which they lived, with all their effects, were destroyed.

Thirty in Hospitals

Thirty persons, most of them firemen, were in hospitals. Five great factories and warehouses were ravaged by flames and fear was expressed that the fire might spread to the great plant of Colgate & Co., occupying two city blocks.

Reports that looters were active in deserted homes caused issuance of an order by Chief of Police Richard Battersby, to "shoot to kill."

A terrific explosion in the saltpetre refinery of Battele & Renwick started the fire. Police said they believed the factory workers escaped without injury.

A series of explosions which splattered flame-tipped acids far and wide shook the lower part, felled firemen and drove crowds back for hundreds of feet.

Flames Leap Streets

Flames attaining great height leaped across street intersections at three points while buildings in two square blocks burned fiercely, setting ablaze structures directly opposite. The saltpetre works, the Richards Chemical Co. plant, the Hoppe Paper Box factory, the American Sugar Refineries and huge warehouses owned by Colgate and the sugar company were among the buildings destroyed.

Shortly before 1 o'clock a squad of men sent by a contracting firm at the request of fire authorities began laying fuses for a dynamite blast intended to raze the sugar refinery and other structures in the path of the flames in an effort to clear a space over which the flames might not leap.

Start Dynamiting

Red Cross workers helped doctors and nurses in first aid treatment and a squad of war time canteen workers, hastily recruited, served steaming coffee and sandwiches.

Dynamiting of the sugar refinery was begun at 1 o'clock, J. J. Plate, manager of the saltpetre works, said the fire started in the sub-cellar of the plant and that he and other employes just managed to escaped in time. A moment after they reached the street, the roof of the factory was hurled skyward by an explosion.

At 1:20 o'clock the fire still was spreading. A large addition to the sugar refinery and a series of tenement houses were aflame.

A squad of police was checking up among 500 refugee families, to learn if any had perished, as was persistently reported. They were also busy reuniting parents and almost 150 lost children found wandering in the fire zone.

RUSH SEWER WORK TO FINISH

Contractors on Job Predict Completion Within Year's Time

Assurance that the $1,600,000 sewer which is to connect the city of Glendale with the Los Angeles outfall system leading to the Pacific ocean will be completed many months before the termination of the contract was given yesterday afternoon by Charles Thompson of the firm of Charles and George K. Thompson, at the exercises at the corner of Macy street and Mission road, Los Angeles, when ground was broken.

"We will hit the ball and hit it hard," he said. "Unless something unforeseen should occur, we will complete the work within a year, though we have seventeen months, under the contract. Through an arrangement with C. E. Green, who has the contract for section 2, we will co-operate all along the line, timing our work so that all three sections will be completed at approximately the same time."

Mayor Spencer Robinson of Glendale had, just prior to Mr. Thompson's remarks, lifted the first shovelful of earth from the point where the initial shaft is to be sunk, and to the tune of clicking cameras, one of them a motion picture camera, had cast it aside with an expression on his face that betokened the happy end of a long, hard journey.

Worked Together

Councilman S. A. Davis, who stood beside the mayor, shared the expression. It was quite natural that he should share the expression, and it was equally natural that he should stand beside the mayor, for not one of that large assemblage of prominent Glendale and Los Angeles officials was ignorant of the fact that Mayor Spencer Robinson and Councilman S. A. Davis of Glendale have stood together for over two years in trying to bring to pass what had then occurred—so insignificant and yet so momentous—the lifting of the first shovelful of earth that signalized commencement of work on what is conceded to be the greatest single development in the history of Glendale.

"This sewer, when completed, will care for a population of 1,000,000 people within a circle in the San Fernando valley, whose center will be Glendale," said Chester A. Smith of the engineering firm of Burns, McDonnell & Smith, retained by the city of Glendale to supervise construction of the sewer. "Eagle Rock, Burbank and many other points in that section of the valley will be served for many years to come, and points all along the line will develop rapidly, as a result of the great work we have actually started today."

Will Sink Shafts

George K. Thompson, brother of Charles Thompson, stated that the shaft would be sunk at that point to a depth of sixty feet, in order to get below buildings, tracks and other obstructions, and that the sewer would be built along a general line north and south of that point, while other shafts would be sunk at various points in section 1, to get the work going faster. Section 3, the upper section of the sewer, is open trench work and does not offer as serious problems, he said. Work on this section will be commenced within ten days, Mr. Thompson intimated.

Those present at the exercises included: Mayor Spencer Robinson of Glendale and Councilmen S. A. Davis, S. S. Gilhuly, Asa Hall and C. E. Kimlin; Virgil B. Stone, city manager; John F. Johannsen, city engineer; W. L. Twining, president of the Glendale Realty board; W. E. Hewitt, president of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, Charles Murphy of the Tropico Potteries; Chester A. Smith of Burns, McDonnell & Smith; Charles and George K. Thompson, contractors of sections 1 and 3; E. E. Glass, executive sceretary, Associated General Contractors of America, of which Messrs. Thompson are members; and P. H. Calahan of Glendale, a member of that organization.

PRODUCTION RECORDS HIGHER

Figures Showing Increase of State's Citrus Industry Shown In Report

The average person in the United States and Canada now eats during a year fifty-eight oranges, five grapefruit and sixteen lemons, according to the annual report of E. G. Dezell, general manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, Los Angeles, which was issued today.

Of the oranges consumed thirty-six are grown in California and sixteen of these are of the nationally famous "Sunkist" brand. The remaining twenty-two oranges come from Florida and other sources. Most of the grapefruit is produced in Florida, while 89 per cent of the lemons are from California orchards.

The season just closed has shown an increase of citrus fruit consumption in the United States and Canada of 15 per cent over the preceding year and more than 60 per cent over that of five years ago, it is stated.

Annual Production

In figures, this represents an approximate total of 43,000,000 boxes of oranges and grapefruit and 5,500,000 boxes of lemons supplied to American markets for the year ended October 31, 1924. The average orange box contains approximately sixteen dozen and a lemon box, twenty-seven dozen.

California furnished approximately 22,000,000 boxes of oranges and grapefruit, mostly oranges; Florida over 20,000,000 boxes, about 60 per cent of which were oranges and 40 per cent grapefruit; while other sections of the country and foreign imports made up the remainder.

Of the lemon supply California produced 89 per cent, and the Italian imports supplied the balance. Lemon shipments from this state for the season were 53 per cent greater than in 1923 and 3.7 per cent greater than in the record year of 1921.

Yearly Returns

Of the California crop, the California Fruit Growers' Exchange marketed 32,715 cars of oranges and grapefruit and 11,551 cars of lemons, or a total of 44,266 carloads, representing 72.9 per cent of the citrus fruit shipped from that state. In terms of boxes, orange and grapefruit shipments equalled 14,800,069 and lemons, 4,588,211 boxes.

Exchange growers received for their fruit during the year $50,515,497, making the delivered value to the wholesale trade $76,219,240, it is estimated. The returns to California growers as a whole, based on Exchange figures, were $69,826,235, with a delivered value to the wholesale trade of $105,382,634, including $35,556,398 for freight and refrigeration.

"The quality of the entire California orange crop for the season was good," said General Manager Dezell, "but due to climatic conditions, sizes ran extremely small. This created a marketing problem, which had to be met by a nation-wide advertising campaign on the part of the exchange to inform the public of the delicious eating quality of this small sized fruit.

Crops Increase

"Competition from heavy supplies of apples and bananas at low prices throughout the season, and from Florida and other oranges during the naval season, had to be met. Florida's shipments of oranges, and supplies from other sources have increased 135 per cent in the past five years, demonstrating the necessity for the most intelligent distribution of both the California and Florida crops," continued Mr. Dezell.

"Florida growers are strengthening their co-operative marketing organization to meet this situation, while the California Fruit Growers' Exchange has for a number of years recognized the increasing problems that the citrus industries of these two states must face and has devoted its best efforts to improve and widen distribution of the California crop, to educate the public to the advantages of a greater use of citrus fruit and to popularize California oranges and lemons through the "Sunkist" and "Red Ball" brands of the organization."

Sojourning Masons to Meet Sunday Afternoon

The meeting of sojourning Masons living in Glendale and this immediate neighborhood, called for last Sunday afternoon, was postponed because of the storm, and will be held this coming Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard. Mr. Dewey, who has been the moving spirit in the proposed Masonic activity, reports that a large number of Masons who were not at the first meeting have brought their demits from their home lodges to his office and signed the mutual agreement to aks for permission to form such a lodge in Glendale, this request to be submitted for approval to the two local blue lodges and the district inspector for this Masonic district, Dwight W. Stephenson of Glendale. Some local opposition has developed from blue lodge members, who seem to fear a loss of revenue to their bodies if this new lodge is formed, but this is melting away rapidly as the members come to understand that the lodge of sojourners is to be made up of sojourning Masons only, and does not contemplate receiving petitions for membership from new members. It is expected that many Masons not before interested will attend the Sunday meeting.

Opens Studio

CHARLES LAIRD, nationally known phonograph artist, will conduct classes in Glendale this winter.

Charles Laird, nationally known concert, oratorio and phonograph artist, has decided to remain in Southern California this winter and devote part of his time to teaching. His Glendale friends will be glad to know that he has made arrangements with the Glendale Music Co., 118 South Brand boulevard, for studio space in the building and will be in his studio on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday.

Mr. Baird is nationally known as one of America's foremost concert bassos, once having appeared before many noted musical organizations, some of which are the Arion society and Mendelssohn club of New York, the Apollo and Mendelssohn club of Chicago, Minneapolis Philharmonic club and Symphony orchestra, St. Louis Symphony orchestra and Philadelphia Symphony orchestra.

Mr. Laird has a natural voice of wide range and has studied with many of the noted teachers of the country, including Marion W. Whitney, Emel, Ouet, Glwyn Miles, Dr. William Rhys Hubert, and Misha Ferenza.

SCHOOL PRESENTS COMEDY PLAYLET

Glendale Intermediate Pupils Become Actors; Better Films Reported

"Nervous Johnny Visits the Doctor" was the name of the playlet presented by students of the Glendale Intermediate school under the direction of Miss Misner, physical education director for the girls, at the Parent-Teacher association meeting held at the school yesterday afternoon. Members of the cast were Freda Dassos as Mrs. Prime George Peterson as Dr. Bixby, Donald Banks as Nervous Johnny, and Elizabeth Stull, nurse. The playlet was written by Miss Misner.

An Indian club drill in costume was given by girls of the fourth period B-8 class. Mrs. A. A. Barton talked on National Education week, telling its purpose and emphasizing the need of more co-operation between the parents and teachers. She urged parents to visit the school during the week and keep in touch with the work.

Principal Talks

Mr. Whytock, principal, in his talk, stated that special programs were being arranged at the schools for the observance of National Education week and invited the parents to visit the schools, stating there would be someone in attendance to direct them to the room in which their children were.

Executive board meeting was held at 1:30 o'clock preceding the program and the business session after the program. Room count was taken and it was found that Miss Lacey's room had the most mothers and a prize of a vase and flowers was given the winner.

Better Films Report

Mrs. E. S. McKee, better films chairman, gave a list of films endorsed by the Federation of Woman's clubs and urged women to see "Abraham Lincoln" at the T. D. & L. theatre, December 23, 24 and 25. Mrs. Trudeau, membership chairman, reported that during the membership drive, 186 new members had been obtained.

Rooms of Miss McKay and Miss Reynolds were one hundred per cent in membership and the prize awarded was a party for the children of the two rooms. Mrs. Mae Rosenberg, president of the association, directed the meeting. The next meeting will be held December 11. The program was arranged by Mrs. M. A. Heasley, program chairman.

Vocal Teacher Primes Pupils for Professor

Miss Claire Payne, vocal teacher, representative of the De Reszke-Seagle school who gives instruction Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, at the Glendale Music Co., 118 South Brand boulevard, announced today she is preparing pupils for Oscar Seagle, who will be in Los Angeles February, March and April.

Children's Hospital In Appeal for Xmas Toys

With the approach of Christmas the Children's hospital salvage department is making an appeal for broken dolls and toys that can be repaired and sold. Glendale people desirous of helping the hospital are asked to send dolls or toys to 712 Maple avenue.

FOOD STUFFS ORDINANCE PASSED

Council Regulates Sanitary Condition of Shops, Other Business

Two ordinances that vitally affect the distribution of foodstuffs in the city of Glendale were passed yesterday at the afternoon session of the City Council. One ordinance regulates sanitary conditions in markets, shops, restaurants and all other places where edibles are sold. The other regulates handling of foodstuffs.

The ordinance regulating sanitary conditions authorizes the city health officer, Dr. G. Kaemmerling, to make frequent inspections of all places where foodstuffs are sold, and makes the maintenance of unsanitary conditions a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $100 or imprisonment for thirty days, or both.

The ordinance regulating the handling of foodstuffs requires the possession of a health certificate by every person handling edibles, and, in addition, makes it necessary for each firm engaged in the vending of foodstuffs to take out a license, at $2 a year. These health certificates and licenses are to be issued through the city health department, the ordinance stated, and makes the failure to secure same a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $100 or thirty days in jail, or both.

Fire Department Addition

An ordinance providing for the issuance of $60,000 in bonds, for construction of additions to the Glendale fire department, as authorized by the voters at a recent special election, was passed and the city clerk, A. J. Van Wie, was ordered to advertise bids for sale of the bonds, December 2 being set as the date when these bids will be opened and read before the council.

The contract recently entered into between the City Council and The Glendale Evening News, awarding to that newspaper the city printing for the ensuing year, was approved. Southern California Edison Co. was granted an easement for a water reservoir. An agreement was entered into between the city of Glendale and the Pacific Electric Railway Co., whereby the former is granted by the latter the privilege of running a pipe line under the latter's tracks. The city manager, Virgil B. Stone, recommended that the recently inaugurated proceedings for the improvement of Howard street be amended to improve this street from Broadway to Lexington drive with 4-inch asphaltic concrete, and it was so voted.

West Broadway Crossing

On receipt of a petition from Peter L. Ferry, Charles A. Litchfield and Harry MacBain, to make West Broadway where it crosses San Fernando road a permanent crossing, the council voted to request the city attorney, Ray L. Morrow, to make formal application to the Railroad commission, to this effect, including as well West Palmer avenue.

The council authorized John F. Johannsen, city engineer, to vote for the standard datum plane, at a meeting in Los Angeles, on November 21, of engineers from the several Southern California cities. The universal adoption of this plane would set a standard sea level measurement.

A communication from Foster & Kleiser, outdoor advertisers, inviting the council to be present at their plant on a date to be designated later, when a general discussion of billboard matters would be had with Los Angeles and other officials, was read. On the invitation being put to a vote, a tie was registered, Mayor Spencer Robinson and Councilman S. A. Davis being against accepting, Councilman Asa Hall and S. S. Gilhuly in favor, and Councilman C. E. Kimlin absent.

Commercial District

Jim Kasabian was ordered to vacate the premises on West Broadway near San Fernando road, where he maintains a paper warehouse, this action being taken on receipt of a communication from residents in the vicinity protesting against the establishment. An ordinance was passed creating a commercial district west of Pacific avenue, on Gilbert street. Approval was given to transfer the permit of the Bendall Patrol system to the Commercial Patrol system.

Council voted to participate in National Education week, November 16 to 22, by visiting the city schools. This action was taken at the instance of the local school authorities, a letter from whom, extending an invitation to visit the schools, was read before the council.

Council voted to pay $5 to each of the 152 election clerks who served at the November 4 election, four in each of the thirty-eight municipal precincts. This is a total of $760 that will be paid to these workers, out of the city treasury, as a recompense for their services.

Billboard Ordinance

An ordinance was offered regulating the construction and maintenance of billboards within city limits. This ordinance, if passed, will supersede the ordinance now in effect, and will detract largely from the present power of the City Planning commission in regulating billboards, in addition to changing the existent flat rate per year to a separate tax on each board. An ordinance was offered creating a commercial district at the corner of Palmer avenue and Adams street.

Hearings on the establishment of commercial districts at Pacific avenue and Burchett street, Stanley avenue and Verdugo road, and Sycamore Canyon drive and Verdugo road, were continued one week. A commercial district was granted on Glenoaks boulevard from Winchester avenue to Justin avenue. All protests were denied on the improvement of Los Feliz road with ornamental street lights, and a resolution adopted ordering in the work.

Acacia Improvements

All protests were denied on the hearing for the issuance of bonds for the improvement of East Acacia avenue, and a resolution adopted ordering the bonds to be issued.

Resolutions were adopted awarding contract for the improvement of Watson street; directing the superintendent of plant and production, Peter Diederich, to bid on the Los Feliz road light job; adopting a diagram showing the Canada boulevard bridge assessment district; adopting a diagram exhibiting Kenilworth and California avenues; adopting plans and plats for Verde Oaks drive, and adopting specifications No. 79 for one-light ornamental standards.

WINS SCORES OF PRIZES ON BIRDS

Brahma Chickens Owned by Mrs. Walter Babbs Cop Ribbons and Cups

Want ad columns of The Glendale Evening News might carry this:

WANTED—Nice clean flour bin of ample dimensions or discarded bath tub to store ribbons worn by my Brahma chickens. Answer at once as house is filled to overflowing."

It would bear name and address of Mrs. Walter A. Babbs, 1010 East Acacia street, Glendale.

When interviewed today, Mrs. Babbs averred things were bad enough after her prize chickens walked off with all ribbons, cups, medals and cash considerations at Oakland and Los Angeles shows, but when twenty entries took sixteen ribbons, two cups and a flock of cash at Pomona, the limit was reached. There just isn't any room left in the modest domicile at 1010 East Acacia street, and now the awards from Pomona show committee are being mailed out and should arrive any day. Mrs. Babbs has sent up a call for help.

She's been in the Brahma raising industry since 1887, but didn't start saving prizes until two years ago. She says had she saved ribbons sooner, quilted rain canvas for Pasadena Rose Bowl or several circus tents could have been made from them.

Ship By Freight

One difficulty has been, Mrs. Babbs says, Brahmas have had to be shipped by freight, as ruling of express department on weight limit barred them from this more convenient mode of travel. One little feathered pet of the Glendale woman tips the beam at eighteen pounds even. The affair is full blooded Brahma and has not been crossed with elephant, she says.

Mrs. Babbs has about 600 ribbons, the majority of them blue in color, denoting first prize honors. She has more than thirty large silver cups won by her birds. She has received more than $250 in gold cash awards alone, in the last several years and other cash prizes bring this total to more than $500.

At the Pomona show, held October 14 to 18, twenty entries from Mrs. Babbs' pens won all the blue ribbons offered, took cups for best male display, four special prizes including those for best male and best female, besides two seconds, one third, two fourths and one fifth. Cash amounting to considerable accompanied these awards.

Birds to Malay

But the cash realized at shows is only pin money for Mrs. Babbs. A look at her account book disclosed sales running into four figures on the left hand side of the decimal point. Just last Monday she received an order for ten birds from the leading chicken fancier of Malay peninsula. The breeder in the dusky land where Brahmas first originated, offered any price; what he wanted was stock from the pens of Mrs. Babbs. The letter came from Pasir Panjang, Port Dickson, Federated Malay States. It took sixteen cents in coin of the realm to carry the missive to Glendale and over six weeks were consumed en route.

Her correspondence takes so much attention, Mrs. Babbs says, she hasn't time to gather the eggs. She makes shipments to all parts of America. One batch of hens shipped to Old Mexico were taken over the last leg of their journey on backs of pack-mules. When they arrived they were permanently lame from standing in the same position so long.

Choir Members Guests Of L. A. Organization

Choir members of the First Congregational church, with their director, Mrs. W. Q. Widdows, motored to Los Angeles last night for dinner with John Smallman and the choir he directs at the First Congregational church. There were more than 100 at the dinner. Later a short program consisted of musical numbers by Mr. Smallman, by members of the choir; an interesting talk on "Bird Music," with imitations of songs of birds, by Prof. Miller. Later the Los Angeles choir held rehearsal with the Glendale choir as audience.

REGIONAL EISTODDFOD CONFERENCE TOMORROW

LEADERS IN MUSIC, ART AND DRAMA TO ASSEMBLE

Formal Organization of Plans For Contests In Spring to Be Effected at Business Session; Program to Follow Dinner

Lovers of drama, art and music, and particularly those working to spread interest in these branches throughout the district by the Eisteddfod contests in the spring, will enjoy an afternoon and night of varied activities tomorrow, when the fourth regional conference of the all Southern California Eisteddfod will convene in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Many prominent members of musical, dramatic and art groups representing numerous cities of the district will participate in the business session at 3 o'clock and remain for the 6 o'clock dinner and program.

Formal organization of the Eisteddfod for contest in the spring will be effected in the afternoon, Charles L. Munroe, president of the body, being in charge. The visitors will be welcomed by Mayor Robinson and by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club. Following this meeting guests of Glendale will be entertained with a drive through the city by a special committee from the Chamber of Commerce.

A program representing leading Glendale organizations has been prepared by a committee directed by Mrs. Alexander Mitchell. The tea room, adjacent to the club dining room, has been fitted for a stage, where the program will be presented beginning at 7 o'clock. This will be preceded by several short talks during the dinner, Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the Los Angeles district, State Federation of Women's clubs, acting as toastmistress.

Program Numbers

The following numbers will be included on the program:

Duet, "I Waited for the Lord" (Mendelssohn), "It Was a Lover and His Lass" (Walthew), Mrs. Frank Arnold and Miss Elizabeth Mottern, of the oratorio section of the Glendale Music club.

Interpretive dance, Marie Louise Brown, pupil of Pearl Keller; Mrs. Gertrude Erb, accompanist.

Double trio, "Irish Love Song" (Margaret Lang), "Oft in the Stilly Night," (Moore), Mesdames Littlefield, Vierick, Parker, Draper, Cotton and Miss Schlotzhauer, of the Madrigal club.

Three "Nell Gwyn Dances" (German), Glendale Symphony orchestra, J. Arthur Myers, director.

"Bridal Chorus" from the "Rose Maiden" (Cowen), Glendale Choral club and Glendale Symphony orchestra, directed by Mr. Myers.

Five-minute talk, John Stephen McGroarty.

One-act comedy, "Food" (William DeMille), Joe V. Griffin, Irma Jacobs and Paul Morgan, of the Little Theatre Players.

This final number will be the longest on the program, being scheduled to continue twenty minutes. The scene is in New York City, in the home of "Basil," played by Paul Morgan. The time is fifty years in the future. With Irma Jacobs as "Irene," wife of "Basil," and Mr. Griffin as an officer of the food trust, many amusing situations are presented.

Interested Glendale residents are urged to attend the afternoon meeting, the dinner and the program, or any one of these gatherings. Special places will be provided for persons desiring to come at 7 o'clock for the program. A limited number of dinner reservations, at $1 a plate, may be secured tonight and early tomorrow morning from R. Ernest Tucker of the Community Service, arrangements to be made by telephone, and the tickets secured at the door. A tempting repast is being prepared for the occasion, which will be informal.

Entire List Of Evening News Subscribers To Be Published; Big Cash Prizes Are Announced

On January 1, 1925, the entire list of subscribers of The Glendale Evening News and their addresses will be published alphabetically. The list of names proposed to be published at that time will occupy from ten to fifteen pages in the regular edition of The Evening News.

The work of segregating and compiling the list has been commenced in the circulation department. Only the names of persons who are bona fide subscribers will be allowed to appear in this list. The laws governing United States government postoffice statements will permit none other.

Every city is judged from the general make-up and community support given to its daily newspaper. For this very reason it is important for Glendale to present to the public the largest possible list of subscribers through The Evening News on next January 1.

There is not any person who is anxious to see his own name in print, but we are all anxious to see eight thousand names published upon that occasion. Many copies of that edition which, by the way, will be designated as the New Year's Number of The Evening News, will go to our friends in the middle west and east, and what can serve as more favorable publicity for our fair city?

The aid of every citizen and of every organization is asked to make this effort a marked success.

A cash prize of $100 is offered to the service club, order, association, fraternal society or organization of any kind with a membership of fifty or more having the highest percentage of its membership as bona fide subscribers to The Glendale Evening News.

A cash prize of $50 will be given to the organization holding second place upon like conditions.

A cash prize of $100 is offered to the church which has the highest percentage of its membership as bona fide subscribers of The Evening News. The second prize is $50 on same conditions.

A suitable and beautiful printed banner will be awarded to the state which has the largest number of representatives as residents of Glendale which has the greatest percentage of its representatives bona fide subscribers to The Glendale Evening News.

December 20, 1924, is the date upon which all lists are to be checked and verified.

For further particulars inquire at the office of The Evening News, 139 South Brand boulevard. Telephone Glendale 4000.

PLUMBERS PLAN BIG CELEBRATION

Coker & Taylor Workmen to Assemble at Pullman Grill Tonight

Company officials and employes of Coker and Taylor, Glendale plumbing firm, will celebrate the completion of the "ruffing in" of the new Los Angeles Hall of Justice at a dinner and entertainment at the Pullman grill, 121 West Broadway, tonight. The Hall of Justice job, the second largest ever let in the city of Los Angeles, has been finished in record time by more than forty workmen of the Coker and Taylor firm under the supervision of L. A. Mathis, superintendent and William Kinross, foreman. Work was started July 1 of this year and in little over four months the entire building is ready for the setting of fixtures.

Some idea of the size of the job was given by R. L. Taylor when he pointed out that the tenth to fourteenth floors of the building will house 1430 jail cells and that in each cell there are two plumbing fixtures. This is in addition to the regular plumbing facilities afforded on the other ten floors of the building.

The Pullman grill will be reserved exclusively for the plumbers tonight after 7 o'clock. Dinner will be followed by dancing to the music of a special jazz orchestra. Messrs. Coker and Taylor as well as Superintendent Mathis and Mr. Kenross, job foreman, will be speakers of the evening.

Tonight the dinner menu will be baked ham, cabbage a la cream, sweet potatoes en casserole, spiced beets, pineapple whip, cake, rolls and coffee.

PASSING OF A STATESMAN

The late Henry Cabot Lodge, United States senator from Massachusetts since 1893, was one of the outstanding figures in American politics for a generation, and it was as a politician that he was most widely known. But, Lodge was an author and historian of note, a statesman and a true patriot. Before he was 30 he was recognized as an authoritative historian, and he was the author of more than a score of books, among them biographies of Washington, Hamilton and Webster.

Senator Lodge was well-to-do, but it was his theory that every man should give of his leisure to politics. His belief that good citizenship demanded this led him away from historical research into politics where he served his country and his party to such good purpose.

The manifold activities of this man during the last thirty years have, perhaps, had a greater effect upon contemporary events than those of any other of our statesmen, including our presidents. He was a truly great American, loyal to country, duty and principle according to his conceptions.

"Among the old guard there was none whose leadership was so purely intellectual as was that of the distinguished senator from Massachusetts, whose death in the wake of a great party victory will be followed by notable changes," says the San Bernardino Sun. "It was not his successful battle against the Versailles treaty, but, because of his commanding stature and his outstanding ability, he was able to match wits with Woodrow Wilson, and, whatever history's final verdict on that battle may be, it will record Lodge and Wilson as the leaders in the most notable clash over national policy that had developed since the settlement of the problems that grew out of the Civil war. With the exception of Theodore Roosevelt, and the two were not unlike in many ways, Senator Lodge is almost the lone example of a successful public man sprung from the leisure class in our American life."

THE CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

What is the California Legislature going to do with the child labor amendment? The 1920 census reveals that there were 1,060,858 wage earners between the ages of 10 and 15 in the United States, and nearly a million and a half between the ages of 7 and 13 who were not attending any school.

The American Association of Manufacturers is fighting the proposed amendment which would give Congress power to regulate, limit or prohibit the employment of persons up to the age of 18.

The manufacturers and other well meaning persons will tell you that the various states have legislation that takes care of child exploitation. But, all states do not have such laws, and those that do protect their children from this evil find their manufactured products cannot compete with those of states that employ children.

More than an eighth of our total population between 10 and 15 years of age is employed in gainful occupations unregulated by any state or federal laws, according to Ernest J. Eberling, professor of economics in Vanderbilt university.

The manufacturers' association emphasizes the proportion of children employed on farms to the number in factories and stores and grows enthusiastic over the advantages to health and character that result from such employment. Prof. Eberling answers this argument by saying, "Wherever rural child labor is greatest, we find the highest percentage of illiteracy and the largest proportion of children not attending school."

Child exploitation is a blot upon our national honor. California voters should see that our legislature ratifies the amendment.

WOMAN FOR GOVERNOR

The organization being effected in California for the sole purpose of electing a woman governor two years hence is on the wrong track. The movers have a peculiar and a wrong view of woman suffrage.

Women did not seek and were not given the ballot to raise sex distinctions, but to do away with them, to eliminate the barrier that had always existed between men and women in politics. The sexes are now on terms of equality as citizens, but this new organization is again raising the barrier between the sexes in public affairs.

There would be no objection to a woman governor, but her qualification for office should be ability and not sex. If this organization insists that the governor be a woman, there will be those to make the counter appeal that the governor be a man. Politics are sufficiently complicated now, without introducing another element to stir up discord.

Those who are sponsoring this organization may be well meaning, but they are going about the task in the wrong way. They should put up a woman candidate and then organize to advocate her election on the ground of her superior ability.

Mrs. Ferguson, in Texas, was not elected governor because she was a woman, but in vindication of her husband, former governor, who had been impeached. Mrs. Taylor, in Wyoming, was elected because her late husband had been governor.

THE THIRD DEGREE

The United States supreme court has recently handed down a decision that should do away with the infamous third degree. The case was that of a young Chinaman who appealed from a death sentence passed after he had confessed to having committed murder. He admitted his guilt after eleven days and nights of constant questioning. A medical witness testifying as to the torture he must have undergone said, "He would have done almost anything to have the torture stopped."

The third degree is utterly barbarous. We read with horror of physical torture being inflicted upon prisoners in ancient times and we pride ourselves that we are civilized and enlightened, and yet this mental torture is more horrible than the other. There is a law that no confession given under duress is admissible, and yet some officers persist in this inhuman method of forcing prisoners to confess a crime. The idea is not to find the real criminal, but to get a confession. In the recent Franks murder case in Chicago it will be remembered that before the real murderers were discovered a young school teacher was tortured unmercifully in an effort to make him confess to the crime.

Third degree methods have no place in a country that makes any pretence to civilization nor in any age which claims to be enlightened.

WHO SAID CHINA WAS A BACKWARD NATION?

Money

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Many years ago, Jay Gould began life as a country boy, milking cows for 50 cents a day. He died, leaving an enormous fortune. The heirs are now quarreling over it.

In the family litigation over the millions that Jay Gould left, being conducted by thirty-five high-priced lawyers, the attempt at blackmail of more than thirty years ago was up again recently.

Some time ago two women made an effort to blackmail Mr. Gould, one of them claiming that she had been married to him. They were unsuccessful.

A man who makes a million dollars and more is apt to be the target for all kinds of sharpers. Every man's hand is against him.

It is easier, and more fun, to make a million dollars than it is to take care of it.

In the making of it there is excitement and adventure. In the taking care of it there is nothing but caution.

We are all anxious to accumulate fortune, in order that we may leave our children better off than we were ourselves. We imagine that the road will be smooth for them by having plenty of money.

We forget that it is the predestined lot of man, in this world, to find his happiness through struggle and to win the prize of life by his own exertions.

Most of the efforts of those who have accumulated much money to enable their children to lead a better kind of life have been unsuccessful. It is the want of money and the need of it that gives most of us activity, and this activity results in the development of our character.

The possession of a great deal of money renders activity unnecessary, and our character degenerates.

It is a common saying that it is only two or three generations from shirt sleeves to shirt sleeves.

Horoscope

Jupiter and Neptune rule at cross purposes today, according to astrology. Jupiter is in benefic aspect and Neptune adverse.

While there will be much that is stimulating and encouraging in business and manufacturing at this time untoward conditions may retard prosperity.

Energy and foresight may be apparent today in the making of plans, but it is well to delay carrying out projects outlined under this rule of the stars.

For men and women in high places there is a sinister influence making for misjudgment and harsh criticism. Much malicious gossip may be prevalent at this time.

Discovery that there has been deceit and disloyalty among politicians will encourage party dissensions. The seers who foretold surprises now again prophesy the rise of new leaders.

Illness appears to threaten a man whose services are in great national demand.

This is not an auspicious planetary government for any sort of speculation, but the desire to risk money is likely to be very strong. Travel today is not well directed, for accidents at sea and also on land appear to be foreshadowed.

Events that take place on the high seas will focus much attention in the next two months, it is foretold.

Premier Macdonald and his cabinet are subject to the most unfavorable influences as the year ends and they may meet most severe tests.

Honors for a university head appear to be forecast. He will be much in the public eye and should be careful not to disappoint.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of rather a trying year in which they should avoid all speculation and attend to business. The young should resist adventurous inclinations.

Children born on this day may be free and generous to excess, gifted and really beautiful. These talented ones should be carefully guided.

Who's Who

Sixty years ago a hardy little youngster began the battle of life on a ranch in Clay county in what was then Dakota territory. Clay county is now part of the state of South Dakota.

The lad was Carl Gunderson.

The blizzards of winter, the long droughts of summer and depredations against his cattle by Indians and rustlers gave the elder Gunderson little time to think of politics. Young Gunderson's first goal in life was to become big enough to ride the range with his dad. But later he had a "hankering" for politics.

The other day Carl Gunderson became governor-elect of South Dakota, one of the men carried into office in the general Republican landslide.

Carl did "ride range" as soon as he was old enough to straddle a bronc. Then he was shipped off to school. He studied at the University of South Dakota, receiving his A. B. degree there in 1890. The following year he journeyed east and studied civil engineering at Cornell. Returning to his home state he ran for and was elected to the state senate and served six terms with that body. For six years, from 1904 to 1910, he served as United States Indian allotting agent and then became supervisor of agents for a year.

Three years ago he was elected lieutenant-governor of his state.

Of late years his home has been in Mitchell. He married Gertrude Bertlesen, a sweetheart of his school days, in 1892.

There have been three sites mentioned for a city park; one bounded by Broadway, Kenwood, Third and Jackson; another bounded by Sixth, Louise, Fifth and Kenwood; and the third, all or a portion of the sanitarium grounds.

Miss Mary Learned, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Learned of 308 Jackson street, has just returned after an absence of fifteen years as a missionary in New Zealand and Australia.

Governor Hiram Johnson has issued a proclamation quarantining the state against the foot and mouth disease which now exists among cattle in Massachusetts, New York, Rhode Island, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Today's Poem

A GULL

Grey wings, O grey wings against a cloud
Over the rough waves flashing,
Whose was the scream, startling and loud.
Keen through the skies—was it thine,
Piercing above the wind and the moaning whine
Of the wide seas dashing?
Whose was the scream that I heard
In the midst of the hurrying air—
Was it thine, lost bird?
Or the voice of an old despair
Shrieking from years long dead,
Inexorable spirit flying
On tempest wings that passed and fled
Through the storm crying?

MARRIAGE AS A JOKE

(San Bernardino Sun)

Quite a noted case is attracting attention in Maryland. It is that of a 31-year-old rounder, son of wealthy parents, who is trying to have annulled a hasty marriage into which he entered, on the ground that it was all a joke. The bride denies the joke element, so far as she was concerned. The circumstances seem to be that, while riding home with friends from a party so late that it was quite early, marriage was suggested. The group drove to a town some miles distant, aroused a deputy official, procured a license, then aroused the pastor of a church and induced him to marry them. It was then time for breakfast, and they celebrated. The groom asserts that there was drinking before the escapade, while the bride and her friends assert that there was no drinking until it was done at the breakfast to celebrate the occasion. But that is immaterial, except to render the deputy and the clergyman still more culpable.

There are two elements of these I-dare-you marriages, which figure so prominently in court proceedings, which ought not to be there, and if they were not such marriages would be few. One is the issuance of licenses at unseemly hours and to parties whose every act is suggestive of something wrong in the wedding. Some heads of license bureaus refuse to issue licenses out of office hours to parties whose conduct or appearance suggest illegality. Others issue them without question to all who apply, if they pay the fee and are willing, as in this case, to get up after midnight to be accommodating. This phase of the hasty marriage evil would be eliminated were the law to require that applications for marriage licenses be published and issuance of the license to be held up for five to ten days, to give time for objections to be filed. Such a law has been urged in the various states for a number of years.

INTERPRETATION HELPED

(From the Nation's Business)

For a long time a thoughtful druggist wondered why a highly meritorious tooth paste in his stock did not sell. One day a woman came in to buy tooth paste, started to indicate the brand the druggist had been wondering about, but flushed a bit and changed to something else.

Then it came out that she was not sure she knew how to pronounce the French name of the brand she really wanted. After that the druggist had printed a little sign for that counter, on which he gave the correct English pronunciation of all tooth pastes, perfumes and other toilet articles bearing French names.

FASHION CENTER INCREASES SPACE

Women's Ready-to-Wear And Millinery Story Takes Lease on Harvard

Over two years of successful merchandising has made necessary an increase of floor space by the Fashion Center, 202 South Brand boulevard, women's ready-to-wear and millinery, and a lease was taken on the premises at 102 East Harvard street, doubling the space.

In celebration of the expansion, a sale will be held tomorrow and Monday. Beautiful show windows will be attractively arranged on the Harvard street side, well arranged booths and stock racks will add to the facilities for handling suits and dresses. Extra salespeople will be on hand, and R. L. Dines, a member of the firm, says exceptional buying opportunities will be offered. M. J. McKinnon, also a member of the firm, is highly pleased with the business done the past two years and said:

"I wish to thank the people of Glendale who have made possible this sale by their generous patronage, for now, by greater effort in showing bigger stocks, better values, and the usual cheerful Fashion Center service, we hope to merit Glendale's continued patronage."

Colder Weather Booms Twin Cities' Business

ST. PAUL, Nov. 14.—Business in this section has increased enormously in the last week owing to the stimulus of colder weather which accompanied the first snow fall. Retail trade in the Twin Cities is heavy and is featured by extensive holiday buying. Factories are beginning to expand with a consequent increase in employment. Rural districts are flooded with salesmen who are finding greatly improved markets although the northwest farmer has profited by his post-war lesson and is paying his debts before buying luxuries. Northeastern trade showed a total of over a billion dollars last month, a gain of 19 per cent as measured by bank debits in sixteen leading cities.

Talented

THYRA RUHLAND, who has a charming part in the comedy, "Adam and Eva," presented by the Dobinson Players.

"Adam and Eva," the comedy that is being offered by the Dobinson Players at the Club Playhouse this week, is amusing the audiences with its clever lines and situations. The players are establishing a record for their excellent work, and are putting over these delightful comedies in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired.

George C. Pearce, director of the company, in the character of the American business man, whose family use his bankroll regardlessly, does as clever work as has been seen. Mary Isabelle Alpaugh as his young daughter, Eva, charms with her effective portrayal. William H. Stephens as Adam, whose sentimental idea that there is no place like home gets a jolt, is a most amusing role which is done with finished perception. Clinton De Witt, the young husband of Julie is very well done by Richard Ehlers, while Gertrude Rothe as Julie is charming and good to look upon.

Carroll Nye as Uncle Horace is a scream, and too much praise cannot be given him. Mr. Nye is only 21 years of age, and his makeup of an aged man is remarkable, while his work is most commendable. Rosamonde Joyzelle, who is well known to theatregoers, is splendid as Aunt Abby Rooker, the organizing clubwoman. Thyra Ruhland does a good piece of acting as the maid who helps Adam when his etiquette is weak. Arthur Lovejoy as Lord Andrew Gordon is a very laughable character well done, and Dr. Delamater as played by Eldon Bullis is convincing.

AWARD PICTURES FOR ATTENDANCE

Interest In Art Is Sustained By Novel Plan Used by Central P.-T. A.

Sustained interest in the work started two years ago by the Central Parent-Teacher association to stimulate among school children, teachers and parents appreciation of and desire for the finest in art, is seen in the purchase by the association of two compositions by well-known California artists, to be awarded at the association meetings each month to the two rooms having the largest representations at the meetings.

John W. Cotton, nationally-known etcher and painter, who is a Glendale resident, and Benjamin Brown, California artist of equal note, were the creators of the two pictures. Mr. Cotton's is an aquatint, "Laguna Beach." Mr. Brown's picture is a line etching, "Palm Canyon." Both pictures were on display at the association's meeting yesterday.

The auditorium of the school was crowded to capacity for the meeting, directed by the president, Mrs. E. R. Ripley. When the room count was taken, the first picture was awarded to Mrs. B. E. Emery's room, while Miss Claycomb's grade won the second honor.

Plan Harvest Party

M. F. McMaster, principal, announced National Education week, urging patrons to visit the school during the week. Special hostesses have been named for each day at Central school.

Another affair anticipated is the harvest party, Friday night, November 21, when the association will honor fathers and teachers at the Casa Verdugo Methodist church.

Speakers yesterday were Mrs. O. E. Spradling, president of Glendale federation, Parent-Teacher associations, and Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools. Mrs. Spradling's subject was "Duties of Mothers to Join and Attend the Parent-Teacher Association." Her plea was for more active members.

Presents Figures

Mr. White's talk presented some interesting statistics on the subject, "Can America Afford Education." He stated that the total wealth of the United States is $320,000,000,000; that the yearly income is $83,000,000,000; that luxuries each year cost $17,361,000,000; that there is put in savings accounts, $17,331,000,000; governments costs each year are $9,000,000,000; more is spent on tobacco, perfumes and cosmetics than for schools; that there is spent yearly for schools $1,500,000,000. In conclusion he stated that it was evident that America can afford education.

During the afternoon enjoyable musical entertainment was given by Miss Esther R. Jensen, flutist, accompanied by Miss Pitman. Mrs. O. M. Newby, courtesy chairman, assisted by the mothers of Mrs. Emery's room, served tea and cake.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—Bacchanalian dances in scanty attire in which Helen Sindorf, wife of Ralph T. Sindorf, crack tennis player, was pursued by W. E. Sindorf testified his wife was happy with him in the little home he had provided for her until she met Conrad, a married man many years her senior.

Gentlemen:

After making a careful investigation of your lake and water conditions, I would say it is our opinion that you have ideal conditions for the growing of rainbow trout.

This opinion is based upon the fact that you open up all the spring water available at the head of your first lake and also divert as much of the creek flow as possible into said lake.

Provisions should be made, where you take the stream water from its present course, to allow any excess of flood water to go down the natural channel as this stream at flood time would give you too much water possibly, and would have a tendency to fill up your lakes with debris.

If you desire to continue stocking every year (it is the only way to keep up your fishing) we suggest your putting in a rearing pond where you can keep the fry and feed them until they are about five inches long at which time they are large enough to take care of themselves.

After the trout are planted in the lakes, they will be no more care to you as the abundance of natural feed which is now showing around your springs will provide ample feed for all the trout you may desire to have.

We wish to congratulate you on acquiring such an accessible location, which coupled with the abundance of water, is something very rare in this part of the state.

If you are in doubt at any time in regard to anything pertaining to your fisheries, we will be pleased to give you any further information necessary.

Thanking you, we remain

Yours very truly,

Was skeptical of Kellogg's Bran until it gave him back his health

Naturally Mr. Carter—whose letter follows—was skeptical. He had tried practically everything for the relief of constipation. All had failed. But Kellogg's Bran brought him permanent relief, just as it has done for thousands of others. Read his letter:

Gentlemen:

I am 43 years old, and have been for years a great sufferer from constipation. I had to resign a clerical position because of rushes of blood to my head, some of which caused me to fall to the ground. I took an outdoor laboring job and tried for the first time, skeptically I admit, your Krumbled Bran. The result has been wonderful. I began to be normal after I had been on the Bran about three days. No more enemas, no more Old Dr. So-and-So's Pills, Epsom salts by the ton, etc., ad infinitum! You have the most wonderful product for constipation I have ever seen or tried. Yours very gratefully,

L. T. Carter, 294 Nineteenth St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, does not irritate the intestines like drugs and pills. It acts exactly as nature acts. Eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic case of constipation, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the exclusive, nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream and in the recipes on every package. Sold by all grocers. Made in Battle Creek.

PLANS DRAWN FOR SWIMMING CLUB

Memberships In New Local Venture Going Rapidly, Officials Report

"With the election over and business interests satisfied with the candidates elected, it is predicted Glendale will be about twice as active as it has been in the past," declared B. F. Brennen, an official of the Iroquois Swimming and Dancing club, 423 Security building. "People have for several months been very timid about making investments, giving as their reason the old alibi, 'wait until election is over,' but that is settled now and we are ready to go ahead with big investments and improvements.

"There are many clubs organizing in California, but none are offering their members the facilities and comforts to be had in the new Iroquois club now being organized in Glendale, and none that have purchased its property and had its plans drawn and going ahead with its building such as is being done by this club. Our advertising in The Glendale Evening News has been more than satisfactory and the results have far surpassed our prediction. The game of 'follow the leader' has ended in so far as clubs are concerned. J. H. Randall, the Glendale architect, who drew the plans for our building, believes that originality in building will be more apparent in this club than in any similar institution of its kind.

"The memberships at $100 include man and wife. The construction of the clubhouse and the installation of modern filtering plant and latest equipment will be a masterpiece of planning. Memberships can be purchased on a monthly payment plan and while this is very unusual in high class clubs, it will not be permitted to take away one iota of its dignity and high standing. The dues will be $3 per month."

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Mayors of Glendale and Los Angeles yesterday did a little mud slinging. They didn't exactly throw dirt at each other, but they did have the pleasure of spading the first shovelsful of earth for the new Glendale sewer trunk line which will connect with the Los Angeles outfall.

It was an auspicious moment in the history of this community for sewage disposal is the one thing Glendale had everything else but.

Time has passed since the $1,600,000 bonds were voted for the improvement which was one of the most complicated ever engineered by any California municipality, the writer believes.

Special legislation, mutual agreement by the two cities, and then the more ticklish question of having the bonds passed upon by experts, not to mention the routine details of advertising, selling and printing the issue.

Great credit must be given all concerned and when the sewer system finally becomes operative Glendale will have accomplished what ten years ago seemed impossible. Far-sighted people then believed this city would have to annex to Los Angeles for water and sewerage. Now they have learned the lesson that "Where there's a will there is a way."

With the cold wave sweeping the northern and eastern states there will be a record rush of tourists to the southland. Glendale should get its share. And these people are going to bring money with them this year to invest in homes. That means more prosperity, not to say that the crops of walnuts, citrus and deciduous fruits, cotton and vegetables have not already spread joy.

By the way, should any of your eastern friends inquire about the pneumonic plague, which was widely advertised in the east as prevalent in Los Angeles, you might inform them that today the quarantines have been lifted. The disease is a mattter of history. Los Angeles dealt effectively with it. And they are keeping up a campaign for cleanliness among the foreign quarters; they are killing the rats, and the greatest problem the metropolis has to deal with is not sickness—it is the criminal class from the east.

Amazing as it may seem, there is every reason to believe that crooks should take methods to identify themselves. Too many of them on one train caused a dope peddler to lose the proceeds of his sale to bootleggers who had just sold card sharps who had just "cleaned" several tourists—as we were saying, the dope peddler lost his wallet to a pickpocket, who was held up and robbed as he alighted from the train here by two highwaymen, who, in turn, were drugged by a demimonde who put their money under the bed pillow only to awaken the next morning to find a burglar had made away with it. There the trail is lost, but no doubt he, too, was a victim of the crooks' devices.

The foregoing paragraph is purely fiction, but it is plausible in view of the police reports of crime every twenty-four hours.

500 CABIN SITES PLACED FOR SALE

Subdivider Morgan Has That Number 20 Minutes From Glendale

Five hundred cabin sites within a twenty-minute drive from Glendale have just been put on the market by C. R. Morgan, subdivider of Tujunga. The lots are located in Blanchard canyon, eight miles from Glendale, and each one has spring water piped and electricity.

Mr. Morgan has been a Tujunga subdivider and broker for five years, but recently moved to Glendale to place his young daughter in school. His Tujunga office is in charge of his brother, S. J. Morgan, but Mr. Morgan expects to shortly open an office in Glendale. The plat of the lots has been approved by Los Angeles county board of supervisors and Los Angeles county planning commission. The elevation is 2,200 to 2500 feet and good roads are being built by Mr. Morgan. Two years ago he sold 175 cabin sites in the same district in six weeks.

Philly's Traffic Gives Opening For Subways

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—Congestion of traffic is so great here that the Rapid Transit Co. proposes to co-operate with the city in constructing a tube under Chestnut street from Sixth street to the Schukyl river. It is proposed to have underground sidewalks for the city's main shopping street. Work is progressing rapidly on the North Broad street subway and the assessed values of real estate will be increased $100,000,000 in consequence. Removal of horse drawn vehicles from certain streets during rush hours and extension of synchronized traffic control have been proposed as a means of solving the traffic problem.

The smallest full-grown horse in the world is twenty-six inches tall and weighs fifty-one pounds.

ELECTRIC POWER BAN IS REMOVED

Irrigation, Domestic, Factory Lighting Now Free Of Alll Restrictions

All restrictions on the use of electric current for irrigation, domestic and commercial lighting, street illumination and factory purposes have been officially removed.

Normal end of the power shortage has been declared by Power Supervisor H. G. Butler, who, acting by direction of the State Railroad commission, imposed an average cut of 25 per cent in June, which continued until the rainfall of this week made possible the lifting of the restrictions.

With the end of the power shortage comes the assurance that Southern California's experience of the past few months, with the darkening of streets and business signs in a hundred cities and towns, will not be repeated.

New Auxiliary Plant

This is because the new $10,000,000 steam auxiliary new plant of the Southern California Edison Co., at Long Beach will be completed in December adding 100,000 horsepower to the capacity of that company. A few months thereafter that engineering wonder, the Florence lake nel, thirteen miles in length, cut through solid granite and costing $6,000,000 a mile will pour the waters of Florence lake into Huntington lake and place the latter forever beyond the danger of depletion.

Huntington lake was the key to the whole shortage situation. It was the storage supply of Edison, largest of the power companies. Normally filled with 88,000 acre-feet of water, its supply shrank during the summer to about 10,000 acre-feet.

Resources Pooled

Faced with the sudden drying up of the streams supplying the lake, the Edison company notified the railroad commission in June that it would not be able to meet the normal demands upon it until the next rainfall. The commission thereupon called the power companies south of the Tehachapi together and ordered them to pool their resources, placing H. G. Butler, who had filled a similar office during the war, in charge.

If this had not been done, despite the fact the Edison company purchased all available surplus power from five other companies and leased and operated the steam power plants of five sugar factories, two oil companies, three municipal plants and two street railway plants, mid-summer would have found many towns of the southland on half rations of "juice."

DOLLAR STORE TO START TOMORROW

First Venture of Kind on Pacific Coast; Prices Are Limited

Practically all arrangements have been completed for the opening tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock of Merrill's Dollar store, 112 West Broadway. T. A. Milne, merchandise manager and buyer, has had a large force of clerks at work all week and goods have been marked and placed on the shelves.

This is the first venture of its kind the company has made on the Pacific coast and Glendale was selected by George Merrill, president of the company, as the city in which to open the first of a chain of three stores having only four prices—25 cents, 50 cents, 75 cents and $1. Mr. Milne is a merchandise man of many years' experience and his wide acquaintance among Los Angeles and San Francisco jobbers has enabled him to get the best the market affords and unusual values are offered at the four prices quoted.

Christmas toys and merchandise are prominently displayed; hosiery from southern mills and ladies' underwear from the largest operators in the world are displayed, with handkerchiefs from Ireland to the mountain slopes of Switzerland. The children's department is well stocked and supplies every need for the little folks. The store will remain open tomorrow night until 9 o'clock.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

Last week we gave a formula for the eighth month and directions for weaning at the ninth month.

Now, let me repeat: the principle for beginning to add any new foods to the baby's diet, is to begin in very small amounts and increase very gradually so that his digestive powers, which are latent, will gradually develop and will not be overtaxed. Feed the baby regularly every four hours—6, 10, 2, 6, and 10. You can omit the 10 p. m. feeding at the tenth or eleventh month, or perhaps earlier. Nothing should be given between meals except water and fruit or vegetable juice.

NINTH TO TWELFTH MONTH—

6 A. M.—Nursing or bottle. (Omit breast feeding at fourth week of ninth month, give eight ounces of milk formula instead).

9 A. M.—Orange juice, three or four tablespoonfuls.

10 A. M.—Breast or bottle, preceded by strained cereal, three or four level tablespoonfuls.

Piece of dry toast. Add small amount of butter to toast by ninth month.

Egg yolk two or three times a week, or oftener. Begin this earlier if baby is anemic. Can be stirred in milk or taken on toast. (Omit nursing second week of ninth month. Give bottle).

2 P. M.—Nursing or bottle. (Omit nursing second week of ninth month).

Dry toast and butter, one-half to one slice.

Strained or pureed vegetables up to three or four tablespoonfuls, or more.

Baked potato, three to four tablespoonfuls, or more. (Begin small amounts, increase gradually).

Fruit, one to three tablespoonfuls, fresh (scraped) or stewed. If stewed, very little sugar.

6 P. M.—Cereal, same amount as getting at 10 a. m., followed by nursing or bottle. Add a little milk on cereal. No sugar. (Omit nursing or bottle by third week of the ninth month).

10 P. M.—Nursing or bottle. (Omit at 10th or 11th month).

If the baby has been having one bottle from the second or third month, you have probably worked up to a pretty strong formula of three-quarters milk and one-quarter water, with a teaspoonful of sugar (best malt sugar) to the mixture. You can gradually omit the water and add more milk and gradually cut out the sugar until whole milk is being used. Unless the milk is certified (the highest grade) it should be high grade pasteurized milk.

If it is very hot weather and the baby is doing well on the breast feedings, it may be just as well to wait until it is a little cooler.

I think I had better review the directions on weaning that I gave last week.

If the baby has not had the one bottle from the third month, begin the first week of the ninth month by omitting the nursing at 2 p. m. feeding. Give eight ounces of half milk and half water boiled together for three minutes. Use no sugar. Increase the milk one tablespoonful and decrease the water one tablespoonful a day until whole milk is given; no sugar need be added. Stop boiling the milk if certified or pasteurized after two or three weeks.

The second week omit the 10 a. m. nursing also, and give eight ounces of milk, the strength you have worked up to.

The third week omit the 6 p. m. nursing; the fourth week the 6 a. m. nursing, giving the milk instead. This gradual weaning will cause no disturbances whatever.

If the baby has been a bottle-fed baby, you can begin by the ninth month to gradually decrease the water or the gruel, and the sugar in the formula, until whole milk is being taken some time the ninth or tenth month. Begin to feed from the cup the last part of the year; otherwise you will have difficulty to wean him from the bottle. The bottle need not and should not be given after the first year.

Taste tells why Borden's Evaporated Milk is used regularly in the homes of particular women everywhere. Once you get to know the taste of Borden's, no other will do. For cooking, especially, you'll prefer it even to bottled milk.

The creamy richness—the wholesome flavor of pure, fresh milk with the cream left in—and the convenience of always having it ready for use, in any strength you want—will soon convince you that you ought to lay in a dozen cans at a time. You will save money—your cooking and baking will taste better.

Try it—wherever the recipe calls for milk. But insist on Borden's!

REFUNDED TAXES YET UNCLAIMED

Glendalians on List Filed Of Those Failing to Collect Checks

Fifty thousand dollars in refund checks drawn in favor of Southern California taxpayers are being held by Rex B. Goodcell, collector of internal revenue.

Checks for various amounts covering the twenty-five per cent refund on income taxes paid this year, which was authorized by the 1924 revenue bill, were mailed to taxpayers at the address given in their income returns. Six thousand of these checks were returned by the post office because the taxpayers had moved and left no forwarding addresses.

Publicity given the returned checks by the newspapers resulted in 2000 taxpayers calling at Collector Goodcell's office and claiming their checks, one of which was for $3000. Four thousand checks remain unclaimed.

The following taxpayers in Glendale have refund checks awaiting them and they should communicate with Collector Goodcell at once:

William M. Alcott, Charles R. Angus, Fredrich Barg, Richard K. Baxter, Edmond Bishop, H. C. Brown, Charles R. Brownlie, C. H. Christenson, Raleigh I. Farlow, Le Roy Fessler, Gene Forney, John A. He has now been appointed secretary of the Service school which is composed of members of all branches of the service. Lieut. Carroll asks that all Reserve officers or others in this vicinity interested in the course, communicate with him at his home here.

The next meeting at Ross field, under the direction of Lieut. C. P. Kane, commander, will be Sunday, November 23, at 10 o'clock in the morning. All officers of Southern California are invited. Elementary military law, general military activities and lighter-than-air service will be the subjects taken up.

BETTER EXPRESS SERVICE FOR CITY

Two New Auto Trucks Added By American Company In Glendale

With the addition of two new auto trucks for exclusive use in handling Glendale express shipping business, H. C. Neuman, local agent for the American Railway Express Co., announced increased service for Glendale patrons today.

Mr. Neuman recently came to Glendale and took charge of the express company's agency which work was formerly handled by H. L. LeGrand in conjunction with his other duties as head of the Pacific Electric freight station here. With the increased patronage of the last year, appropriations for a regular agent and full equipment, including the new trucks, was made by company officials.

C. B. Winn, commercial agent of the American Express for all the southwestern states as far as Texas, visited the local office at 135 North Maryland yesterday, in connection with a move for better and more efficient service conditions in Glendale.

Florence Nightingale was named for the city of Florence, Italy.

SYNTHETIC GOLD FOUND BY TESTS

Portland, Ore. Man Claims Discovery Of Metal, Keeps Secret

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 14.—Behind the sealed lips of two men may lie a secret akin to the golden touch of Midas.

One of them is F. D. Madison, retired investor, of Portland. Thirteen years ago he was puttering about a small assay office in Arizona. Of a sudden there was a deafening explosion.

The utensil which contained ores of baser metals showed a tiny particle of what Madison believes was the world's first synthetic gold.

"It was gold—it stood the test," Madison said today. "My partner and I proved in successive experiments that which science said could never be, had been."

Lives Imperiled

"For the sake of those whose greed might lead them to be blown to death, I must not give the details of the experiment," he said, when pressed by questioners.

He said that he and his partner nearly lost their lives several times in continuously trying the experiment.

"My process is too dangerous," Madison summed up.

Asked concerning the German process, he stated that it was too costly to prove of commercial value. He does not believe the German experimenter is on the right track, and does not agree with the electronic theory.

CITY SCHOOL NEEDS ARE OUTLINED

Richardson D. White Talks At Meeting of Northwest Improvement Body

Facts and figures regarding city schools were given by Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, at the meeting of the Greater Northwest Improvement association, held last night. J. H. Randall presided at the meeting. Some of the points made by Mr. White in his address were:

That of the 5200 grammar school pupils, 800 attend school on a half-day basis and 800 more are assigned to temporary or portable rooms, making a total of 1600 pupils, or one-third of the whole number who are not properly taken care of. In addition there are four basement rooms in use.

That the conditions in the Grand View school are worst with the Central Avenue, Doran and East Broadway schools coming next in order. That it will be necessary to enlarge nine grammar schools, build four new buildings and buy six sites.

Bond Election

That it was necessary to finish the East Broadway High school, buy a 20-acre site in the northwest and build thereon a complete high school, and acquire a site in La Crescenta-Montrose section.

That the minimum cost to accomplish the complete proposed grammar and high school program, as outlined by the joint committee last July, would be $2,000,000.

That it is not probable a school bond election would be called until January and that the money required would be lumped on the ballot under two headings, one to cover grammar school and the other high school.

Glenoaks Boulevard

E. D. Knuchell, in reporting progress on Glenoaks boulevard, said that of the seventy-six lots which required to be widened, dedications for the necessary ten-foot strip had been obtained from sixty-six. Petitions have been circulated for paving Glenoaks boulevard on the north side of the street from the westerly city limits to Grand View avenue with six inches of cement concrete, he said, and the south side of the street will be paved after certain dedications have been procured, which will open this side all the way to Grand View avenue.

J. T. Jenkins of Tenth street was added to the publicity committee.

The telephone company turned down the association's request to take the residents in the extreme northwest section of Glendale off the Burbank exchange, stating that this would restrict the Burbank district and increase the operating cost, it was announced. It was decided to ask the telephone company to remove the 5-cent toll on calls to other parts of Glendale.

Change By-Laws

The by-laws were changed so that fifteen members would constitute a quorum instead of one-third of the total membership. This was necessary because the membership of the association has become so large. It was also decided that dues for members joining now would cover the period to February 1 and include the fiscal year to February, 1926.

J. A. Gyger reported on progress in connection with lowering of the Pacific Electric tracks. He said real progress might be expected after the city engineering department has finished its maps and profiles of the new common grade and the street has been paved.

Arthur Milhaupt, H. J. Kohl and Mrs. E. D. Knuchell were appointed a committee to attend the Grand View school during American Education week and to report back officially to the association their impressions on existing conditions.

Traffic Problems

O. J. Renfrew gave a talk on San Fernando valley. He pointed out that a decentralization was now taking place to diffuse traffic, in order to provide more adequate means for intercommunication in the metropolitan area and at the same time make traffic more safe. He stated that of all the traffic going through Lankershim, only 11 per cent was local, 89 per cent being outside traffic.

"Riverside drive will be 200 feet wide from Elysian park to the bridge that will cross the river at Victory boulevard, he said. "There will be separated crossings at Los Feliz road and Glendale avenue. Having hardly any cross streets intersecting it, Riverside drive will furnish a means for reaching the heart of Los Angeles quickly and safely.

"The Los Angeles river has now been defined and will be rock rebedded. A truck boulevard 100 feet wide, to cost approximately $14,000,000, will run along the north side of the river and will connect with Lake street and on to Turkey crossing, relieving San Fernando road of the now enormous heavy and undesirable traffic on this thoroughfare.

Plan Boulevards

"The Planning commissions have planned for 100 foot boulevards throughout San Fernando valley, running east and west and north and south at distances of one mile apart."

There are sixteen Chambers of Commerce represented by the Greater San Fernando Valley association, Mr. Renfrew stated, and that it has been through the united efforts of these working organizations that the various 100 foot boulevards have been planned. The tunnel through the Hollywood Hills which will afford a direct and short route over Western avenue to Los Angeles, connecting up with Beechwood drive in Hollywoodland, is an assured thing, in fact, the money to accomplish this improvement is at this time in the bank, he said.

It was decided to make the next meeting on December 11 a social affair so as to bring the people out and get acquainted and learn of the important developments that are taking place and what the association is doing to bring them about.

HOLIDAYS FIXED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Friday Following Turkey Day Set Aside; Xmas Time Also Decreed

Glendale Union High school board last night decreed that Friday, November 28, which follows Thanksgiving day, will be a school holiday. This action corresponds with that recently taken by the city Board of Education. The high school board further decreed, in concurrence with the city board, that Christmas holidays will run from December 15 to 26, inclusive, schools closing Friday, December 12, and re-opening Monday, December 29.

The meeting was held at the Broadway High school, a full board being present. Albert D. Pearce, president, presided. George U. Moyse, principal, and Irving H. Oliver, business manager of the Glendale Union High school, were in attendance.

Teachers' Institute

Action in setting Christmas holidays from December 15 to 26 was taken to facilitate attendance of high school teachers at the Los Angeles County Teachers' institute, in session from December 15 to 19. An invitation was extended the general public to be present at the Broadway High school Monday, November 17, at 10 o'clock in the morning and again at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, for the sessions of the Glendale Union High school district Teachers' institute.

The board authorized the clerk, Dr. Harry V. Brown, to write a letter to the Glendale City Council, stating that, owing to lack of funds, no action could be taken at the present time in the matter of contributing toward the cost of the proposed ornamental street lighting standards on East Colorado boulevard. The board authorized Mr. Moyse to set a definite date for the annual visiting day among the local high school teachers.

FOREST DESTROYED BY CARELESSNESS

Timber in United States May Be Exhausted In Short Time, Says Speaker

G. H. Barnes, president, American Reforestation association, told Glendale Optimists today that five-sixths of all the forests in the world had been destroyed by carelessness. There are only trees enough left to last fifteen years, although it takes from fifty to 150 years to restore a healthy forest condition.

He said the United States will cease to prosper as it is today unless immediate attention is given the problem of reforestation. Lack of vision is costing the nation one-third of its earning power at present, he said. Nations which have allowed their forests to be destroyed in the past are today helplessly dependent upon other nations for their very existence, and America's waste of trees has been the wildest and most profligate in history, he added.

Mr. Barnes pointed to the results of the fire some time back in the Glendale hills, which, he claimed, has proven a tremendous setback to Glendale and the surrounding territory. Five-sixths of the rainfall in the United States goes to waste as floodwater, he said. He declared concrete dams, channels and the like can't stem the flood menace.

Eighty per cent of America's ills and setbacks can be traced to the country's lack of forest lands, Mr. Barnes said.

Albert Rebel, editor of the "Civic American," exponent of reforestation, also attended the meeting today.

S. S. Gilhuly told the Optimists that within one year and three months, at the longest, Glendale will have an up-to-date metropolitan sewer system in operation.

C. H. Hunter, chairman of last Friday's entertainment committee, was given a vote of thanks for his work.

Peter Hanson asked support of the forthcoming Chest drive. The movement was endorsed.

Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Florida and South Carolina.

Coolidge ran behind Harding in thirty-one states, Arizona, Delaware, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Alabama, Arkansas, North Carolina, Virginia and New Mexico.

Davis ran ahead of Cox in nineteen states—Georgia, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Nebraka, New Jersey, New York, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Texas, Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, North and South Carolina, Virginia and Utah.

Davis ran behind Cox in twenty-nine states—Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

La Follette Race

La Follette ran ahead of Coolidge in but one state—Wisconsin. He ran ahead of Davis in eleven states—California, Idaho, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

In most of these states the combined total for La Follette and Davis exceeded the Coolidge vote.

There are many indications that La Follette cut far more deeply into Davis than into Coolidge. This is particularly true of the border states and the western states. In the border states like Kentucky and West Virginia and Maryland, La Follette took enough away from Davis to allow Coolidge to "squeeze through."

April is the month of the bumper tornado crops.

CARDINALS LOOK TO SELL HORNSBY

Roger's Contract Expires; Rickey May Take Fortune For Hard Hitter

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Manager Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Nationals, having helped Rogers Hornsby build up a reputation as the most valuable ball player in the National league, and having refused a bona fide offer from Brooklyn of $275,000 for him, now finds himself in a position where he will have to pay and pay, to keep his star.

Hornsby's contract with St. Louis has come up for renewal, and the discussion is being carried on in ample figures, at least so far as Rogers is concerned.

It may possibly wind up in Hornsby's sale. There are other National clubs that would pay handsomely to get him. There is no doubt about the good faith of Brooklyn's $275,000 offer. St. Louis, at that time, was unable to accept because the St. Louis club had been built up around Hornsby, and to part with him, would have meant practical disruption. As it turned out, St. Louis did not get full value out of Hornsby because he was injured part of the time. But, when he was in, he batted better than ever.

St. Louis uses him at second for want of a better man for the post. Hornsby would make a cracking right fielder for some club, and it would not hurt his batting eye if he were transferred to the outfield.

Cubs Offer Outfielder

The Chicago Nationals are anxious to get a hard hitting outfielder. Hitherto Chicago's policy has been to build up a team of young blood, without making any expensive purchases, but the success of that policy has been so questionable that it looks as though Chicago were going to unshackle the old bankroll and go forth looking for some real class, already developed.

If the Cubs were to acquire Hornsby for the outfield, they would give any club a battle for the 1925 pennant. He is just the sort of player needed to round out a team which includes such players as Grimm, Maranville, Pittenger and Friberg.

St. Louis could get enough for Hornsby to go far toward the building up of its team in other directions. He probably would bring even more than Ruth of the American league, because he has a longer playing life ahead of him. The big question is whether the St. Louis management dares take a chance on public opinion and let Hornsby go. It is certain that they will never win any pennants in St. Louis operating as they have been for the last five or six years.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

Well, girls, they're defending you again down below the Rio Grande. And again woman takes the spotlight. Chamber of Revolutions in Mexico City forgot to check its guns with the hat boy when session was called this week. Someone said something against the fair sex. More guns spoke than in the Argonne. One deputy picked out a likely looking pillar and from behind his League of Nations started lead in all directions.

Chamber looked like shooting gallery in less time than it takes Mexicans to start civil war. Two fell wounded. Seats, posts, desks and fast running saved the rest. Woman was vindicated.

A one-eyed Mexican hearing the noise in passing on the outskirts of the town, lost control of his chinaware lamp on the left wing. Police thought he was signaling for reinforcements. He was given three cheers then arrested, quartered and remains scattered. Mexicans like three things, passionately—hard liquor, hard fighting and hard times. They get all three like La Follette got licked.

If someone doesn't fight often and hard in Mexico, something is wrong with the way government is functioning. That is why deputies started shooting, pinch-hitting during a lull in revolutions. Populace gave them rising vote of thanks for upholding reputation of fightingest nation this side of Hades.

'The Tiger' thought Wilson was another Messiah come to judgment. He told someone so at the time we were trying to get together on a treaty with the Kaiser. Clemenceau, Lloyd George and Wilson couldn't get together. They were as suspicious of each other as strange tom-cats straddling a back-yard fence at full moon.

Luis Angel Firpo, better and more appropriately dubbed the Bull of the Pampas is convinced that one can't train in the Paris Montmartre and stand up in the roped arena. Charley Weinert who hails from that haven for well-bred mosquitos, Newark, N. J., slapped Luis from the Bronx to the Battery in Father Knickerbocker's town the other night. Luis didn't have the chance China's Christian general gave the heir apparent to all Japan when he took all playthings away from him including his crown and gave him the flowery Oriental air.

Weinert owes his fast footwork to dodging long-legged mosquitos and sparring with Mexican jumping beans. He had Luis stampeding the rosin for fifteen stanzas. Luis didn't know whether to call the police or use his feet. He did both but couldn't keep Charley's fists out from under his eyes, ears and nose. He lost every round but the one with his seconds when they carried him out.

That scramble for boxing arenas predicted in this column a week ago has started. A pair of Jacks-Kerns and Dempsey are keeping the wires between L. A. and N. Y. busy, ordering the three brass balls placed over their joint realty holdings in L. A. 'Sell us out and build an arena' was the order. American Legion in Hollywood and Jack Doyle in Vernon are due for a lot of competition when these twelve-round parties start.

Speaking of work on the resin courts—this mysterious, strange and unaccountable re-appearance of Fred Fulton, longer-legged, longer armed and absorber of more gloved fists than Hollywood has real estate agents, is out again. Fred probably is better known by The Plasterer because he has a bad habit of covering when there are any fists flying.

Fred is going to do the cakewalk with Tony Fuente, the "heavy." 'Windy' Windsor uncovered and is priming for Dempsey. Fulton has slapped the canvas in every country but Czecho-Slovakia. Culver City announces him as a trial-horse. Fred has had more trials than there are motion picture 'extras' in Culver City. He's always trying. Windsor is cautioned to have the ring full sized. When Fred falls he spreads out like a cucumber vine. He's likely to fall three out of four times—maybe only once. Fred tells everything but when he's going to lie down.

Nine complete 24 hours have gone into the discards since election. Iowa hasn't counted its votes yet. Brookhart is hoping all precincts will be heard from before the next session of Congress. Steck is hoping for the same thing. Brookhart has been leading all along but Steck keeps sneaking up behind as outlying districts realize it's all over. Brookhart is having a tougher time finding out than "Cozy" Dolan is having trying to convince Czar Landis he didn't whisper something to Philadelphia.

WALTER CAMP SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., Nov. 14.—The farther west one goes, the greater if possible, he finds the football interest. The craze is as great in the Missouri valley as it is in the middle west conference. Each section seems hungry for information as to the successful players and advanced methods developed in other sections.

The midwest is taking great satisfaction out of the remarkable comeback Alonzo Stagg staged with his midway team in holding Zuppke's Illinois favorites to a tie. Sober reflection of the next morning only served to enhance its admiration for Stagg's work. Of Stagg's team, McCarthy stands out for his line plunging and Pondelik, the guard for opening holes in the Illinois line.

No one out here is quite able to understand that remarkable feat of Princeton in so overwhelming Harvard. But then they do not know how, about once in so often a Princeton Tiger team suffering early setbacks suddenly rises to great heights and woe to the team it meets when in that mood. Still it was a great triumph for Bill Roper just as Chicago's performance was for Old Man Stagg.

Princeton's stock has gone away up for the Yale game on account of the Harvard defeat. Her backfield men showed Pace and power that will certainly extend the Yale defense to its limit. The Yale ends, if Tuman and Bingham are both in, may cope with part of it, but the tackles and guards will have to wake up a bit, and Tad Jones will have to show his best attack.

"Smoky" Walter Johnson is going to take a lot of looks before he sinks any of his world series money in Coast league nines. The Senators' ace on the firing line is covering a lot of western territory looking the boys over. He wants to have the say-so about nine ball players, but he's going to make sure they can handle the pellet before he makes the plunge. Walter is generally conceded the right to judge ball-tossers when he sees 'em. He may be expected to pick a good number.

A newspaperman uncovers the international news that France's "Tiger," after being pulled by the scruff of the evening clothes at one of the treaty bouts a few years back, by England's then premier, Lloyd George, wanted to put the French gloves on with Lloyd and see about the scruff grabbing. The Tiger didn't much care whether guns, swords or gloves were used, but he wanted something on or in his hands to make Lloyd take it all back.

Said newspaperman in his very enlightening volume on this subject also tells the world that President Wilson was third man in the ring and saw to it that the Tiger didn't hit below the belt. That must have been a real argument. It all happened when things between the Allies and Germany were being straightened out after the Big Berthas had quieted down.

Tomorrow night, "East Lynne."

THREE RING SHOW AT PARK SUNDAY

Sox Play Pasadena; Fans To Observe 'Killefer Day'; Dan O'Leary Walks

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

If the Hatfield brothers, or whoever was responsible for all the rains around these parts last Sunday, will only desist until Monday, or some time next week, the Glendale White Sox will join with all loyal local fans in paying tribute to Wade "Red" Killefer, former pilot of the Los Angeles Angels, and pilot of the Seattle pennant winning club last season, at the White Sox ball park on San Fernando road Sunday.

Killefer was all set to frolic with the Sox last Sunday against the Colored All-Stars, and then some one turned on the water. He will wear a Glendale uniform and play in the outfield next Sunday against the Pasadena Merchants. "Red" will show the home town boys how he used to cover the gardens when working in the big circuits, and display the punch he instilled into the Seattle Indians, which brought them to the top of the Coast league last year.

Assisting Killefer in the outer gardens will be Charley Dorman and Jack Emerson, a pair of flashy players who have been spearing 'em for the White Sox in big league style recently. Both Dorman and Emerson have been doing some hefty stick work.

Penner On Mound

Ken Penner, mainstay of the Vernon Tigers last season, and now on the payroll of the White Sox, will do the hurling for the locals Sunday. Bert Whaling, who was with the Boston Red Sox during the season the beaners copped a world series flag, will do the receiving for the locals. Bert has caught such famous hurlers as Carl Mays, Dutch Leonard and Hugh Bedient.

Ray French, sensational shortstop, who has been cavorting around in the big sticks for a number of years, will manage the team as per usual from his shortstop position. Bill Shields, flashy Glendale player, will be at third. Pfahler will probably be Manager French's choice for second, and Berger or Jimmy Reese will hold down the initial bag.

Pasadena is sending a strong aggregation over to battle the White Sox. Manager Lorin Ury has added such stars as Sam Ross, former big league hurler and late of the Portland team, on the mound; Howard Lindimore, Salt Lake infielder; Charley Deal of Vernon, and Joe Ullman of the Pittsburgh Pirates, to his lineup.

O'Leary to Walk

In addition to the baseball game between the Glendale White Sox and the Pasadena Merchants, Dan O'Leary, world champion walker, will be on hand to display his wares. Dan is 84 years old, but he has a good many stepping days before him. He has challenged Mayor Spencer Robinson to a strutting duel, and the mayor has accepted.

O'Leary will endeavor to walk twelve times around the bases in ten minutes. He will meet the mayor in a special exhibition and the contest will turn back the calendar forty years, for the mayor, then a youth, competed against Dan in Rock Island, Ill.

While the Sox and Merchants are battling on the home grounds, the Hollywood Merchants will be playing the Colored All-Stars at Goodyear park, Los Angeles. This will be the first game of a doubeheader, the Gilmore Oilers and the St. Louis Colored Giants hooking up in the second contest.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Efforts are being made to revive the old Central league which, in its time, included some of the best baseball cities in section between Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Wheeling, Johnstown, Erie, Altoona, Oil City, Franklin, Canton, Wansfield, Lima, Youngstown, Akron, Dayton, Springfield and Fort Wayne—all these at one time or another have been members of the Central league and all have been invited to come into a new league.

It is from this territory that some of the best ball players of the United States have been recruited. Ed Delahanty, although born in Cleveland, acquired his earlier experience in Wheeling, and Frank Ives, the former billiard champion, once caught for Lima.

There is perhaps no section of the country in which greater attention is given to suburban baseball. Practically every hamlet has its local nine, and some of them are pretty good. And in the old Central league days, Akron had a team that was almost of major league calibre, including such players as Sam Wise, Bid McPhee and Tony Mullane.

Owing to the great demand of the majors for young ball players these days—a demand which is sure to increase after the success of the Washington club in winning the pennant and then the world's championship, it is figured that the old Central league section not only can be made into a paying minor circuit, but can be made to pay dividends in the form of profits of players who are trained and sold to the majors.

It is well known that the major leagues would like very much to have a league re-established in this part of the United States.

Confirmation comes from Boston that the National league team of that city may change hands before another season begins. It is agreed that the showing of the club this year was quite discouraging to the owner, who is too much engrossed in other affairs to be able to take active charge.

New York capitalists who have been approached are not biting very freely because they cannot figure any playing strength in the present team and are not willing to pay a high price for nothing but a franchise. An offer of a chance to put in $50,000 was turned down by one New York man, who said he would not give that much for the franchise.

Wholesale Trading Of Ball Players Rumored

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Rumors of a wholesale swap in players, involving the Cincinnati Reds and the Chicago Cubs, are in circulation along Broadway. According to the story told, Jack Hendricks, manager of the Reds, is planning to meet with President Veeck of the Cubs, at French Lick Springs, where the proposed deal is to be discussed in detail. The identity of the players who might be involved was not made known.

Calfskin is one of the best leathers for a practical every-day shoe and comes in all weights, say experts.

Dick Hoppe, With Babe Ruth In Corner, Meets Carter At Hollywood

Dick Hoppe, Glendale fighter, will do his stuff tonight at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium, not only for the general pleasure of the fight fans present, but for the edification of George Herman Ruth, alias Babe, alias Sultan of Swat, and a couple more aliases. If Dick stacks up well in his battle with Tommy Carter for the Pacific Coast lightweight crown, the home-run king will become his manager and take him east to meet the best. The Babe has promised to be present.

Walter Johnson, world series hero, will be on hand, and will be presented with a wrist watch by the Hollywood post. Billy Vincent and Red Williams hook up in the semi-windup, which promises to be an old-fashioned slugging affair. Nate Slott and Henry Marcus step out in the special spot, with Johnny Grella and Sailor Ackerman in the feature preliminary. Other bouts on the card are: Nic Purock and Sid Boniface, Ewell Paul and Young Perry, and Angelo Payo and Kid Dallas.

Tips—Suggestions
Why You Should Buy

We are building a number of houses in Rossmoyne. Materials and labor all contracted for. It is doubtful if this construction will ever be duplicated for same cost. Day after election trading on New York Stock Exchange heaviest in three years, indicating a marked resumption of business confidence. The building industry promises great activity, and in this rapidly growing community, values will enhance, and a natural upward trend in building cost. Our prices are most consistent considering location and class of construction, and NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY.

rope. Marine preferred at 43 was only fractionally below the highest price of the year and American International went through a new high for 1924 at 32½.

Steel and copper stocks were not as prominent in the late trading as they were in the last two sessions. Gulf States Steel was active around 75½ and Crucible sold in good volume around 62. Vanadium pushed ahead to 28¾. Copper stocks declined in activity but were able to hold their gains.

New York Air Brake led the low priced equipment stocks with a rise to a new high at 48¼. Baldwin was up 2 to 125, near the top for the present movement.

For the first time since the violent upward movement began on Wednesday of last week, the market paused in its headlong plunge in the fourth hour today and trading slowed up considerably. High priced industrials were sold on profit taking and losses of from 2 to 5 points were marked against Cast Iron Pipe, American Can and General Electric. The main body of stocks, however, refused to give ground.

Another sharp advance in railroad stocks featured the last hour in the stock market. New York Central scored a new high for the year at 117¼; Missouri Kansas and Texas preferred made a spectacular run up of five points to a new high for all time at 70 on reports that dividends are to be inaugurated on this stock. At the same time the adjustment bonds of the company sold up about 3 points. Atchison gained 1½ points at 111¼ and Wabash preferred "A" was up 1½ at 51¾.

Oils were strong in this period under the leadership of the Standard Oil of California, Marland and Cosden.

Sinclair lost about one point on announcement that a $15,000,000 note issue had been placed privately with New York bankers. Sugar stocks were firm with Cuba Cane preferred up 2 points at 61¾.

Sales today 1,891,000 shares; bonds, $17,085,000.

L. A. EXCHANGE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—Oils were leaders in trading today on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange with a strong market in their favor. Edison issues also were seeking new high levels with 7 per cent preferred selling at $105.25 and common at $100.75 as a result of power requirements being met and maximum earning capacity assured.

In the oils Associated sold at $31.62½ and $31.75 while Union Associates sold at $63.12½ and Union of California at $35.50, both up. Shell Union held at $20 while Holly Development lost a half cent during the morning session, selling at $1.18½. Julian common perked up at $6.25.

Bonds were scattered, but strong with 15,000 San Diego Gas and Electric issues leading the sales.

Oatman United selling at 17 cents and Gold Dust at 4 cents were the best traders in the mines. Los Angeles Investment held firm at $3.90.

Steel Prices To Stay As Is, Experts Figure

EXPECTS FEW CABINET CHANGES

deadlocking American action. In the treasury, the biggest problem before the country today—economy of expenditure and reduction of taxation—is being worked out. Mr. Mellon's ideas on tax reform have not been given as careful treatment by the present congress as they might be in the new congress. Mr. Mellon is advanced in years but a monument to his administration would be a simplification of the tax system and a further development of his refunding policies.

The attorney general, Harlan Stone, is a personal choice of President Coolidge. Mr. Stone's legal ability is unquestioned and he will stay indefinitely, in fact until some vacancy on the Supreme court occurs when he may be expected to receive a promotion though there is a chief justice in Massachusetts who is close to the president's favor for high judicial honors.

The work of the department of commerce has been so closely interwoven with American business that Mr. Hoover's transfer even to the department of interior where it is believed there will be a vacancy is hardly likely to occur. Mr. Hoover has a freer hand in present day problems in the department of commerce than he would have in the interior department.

Work To Retire

Dr. Work, secretary of interior, is said to be anxious to retire. The official announcement has been made that James W. Davis will leave the department of labor on March 4 as a result of his own request. The secretary of war, John W. Weeks, is one of the ablest of President Coolidge's advisers. If he decides to return to private life or to run for the senate in Massachusetts, it might mean the appointment of William H. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee to the cabinet, although Butler has just been named senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Lodge.

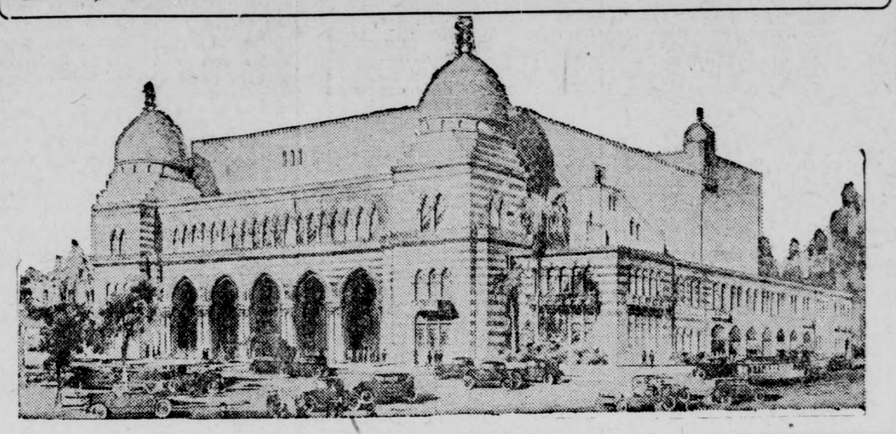
There is a vacancy in the agricultural department due to the death of Henry C. Wallace. Harry New at the head of the post office department may be regarded as a fixture if he desires to stay. He has served his party through three decades and from a political viewpoint would not find opposition. It's all a question of whether he wants to continue on and there is reason to believe he does.

The secretary of the navy, Mr. Wilbur, is a recent appointee. He is being talked of for a federal judgeship of importance. His long judicial training was called into play when the Tea Pot Dome controversy began. When the cases are completed he may wish to return to the bench. It is not considered probable that he will leave the navy portfolio very soon.

The foregoing gives the few places in which changes may be expected. They are not many and the principal portfolios are not affected.

Al Malaikah Shrine Temple

Cornerstone laying ceremonies for the new Masonic auditorium in Los Angeles will take place tomorrow afternoon. A number of Glendale Masons, most of them in Templar uniform, will attend.



MASONS PLAN TO JOIN IN PARADE

Glendale Knights to Witness Laying Cornerstone for L. A. Temple

Although they will take no official part as a body, members of Glendale Commandery No. 53, Knights Templar, headed by Commander R. M. Grumbling, will attend the corner stone laying ceremonies at the new Los Angeles Shrine auditorium Saturday afternoon. A large number of Glendale Masons, most of them in Templar uniform, will attend. Glendale Shriners, members of Al Malaikah Temple, also will witness the ceremonies.

It is estimated 10,000 Knights Templar and Shriners, with scores of patrols and chanters, and at least twenty bands, will participate in the parade to be held prior to the cornerstone laying.

The pageant will form at Pico and Figueroa streets where all Glendale Masons are requested to meet and poin in the line of march. The parade will move south to Jefferson street, and west to the site of the greatest Shrine Temple in America.

The affair will be honored by an official visit of the Imperial Potentate, Illustriate Nobel James E. Chandler of Kansas City. At the site of the new temple, Most Worshipful David J. Reese, grand master of California, will spread the mortar with a trowel of gold.

With the completion of Al Malaikah Temple, Southern California Shriners will boast the greatest temple in America. The edifice, located at Jefferson and Royal streets, will cost $2,000,000. The old temple, built in 1906, was destroyed by fire January 11, 1920.

RIOTS IN ITALY SEEM IMMINENT

Anti-Fascist Demonstrations Throughout Country Are Expected

opposition to the government, according to information in political circles. The Stampa of Turin, Giolitti's personal newspaper, announced that Giolitti plans to speak in the Chamber of Deputies and, in a discussion of the budget, make an attack on Mussolini's domestic policy.

Such an attack may make the premier's majority doubtful and influence the king's decision in case it results in a parliamentary demonstration against the premier, it is declared.

Deputies Absent

Salandra is the most prudent of these three important leaders, but the Giornale D'Italia, which is friendly to him, has come out with open criticism of Mussolini.

The absence of 150 minority deputies who have boycotted parliament because of their determined opposition to the Fascist policies, complicates the situation. A large portion of the country's population is represented by deputies who refuse to attend chamber sessions.

'NICKEL DANCE' IS BAZAAR FEATURE

Tuesday Club Women Plan Big Novelty Affair for Annual Event Monday

Maids' and Young Matrons' and Fine Arts departments of the Tuesday Afternoon club, are sponsoring the "nickel" dance, to be held as a feature of the annual club bazaar Monday night. The big banquet hall will be roped off and lively dance music furnished by Roy Biddlecom's Elks' orchestra. Merrymakers at the bazaar will be admitted to the dance floor by tickets, costing five cents each. Plans for the dance were announced yesterday at the Maids' and Young Matrons' meeting at the clubhouse by Mrs. Emil Johnson, chairman of the dance committee.

In addition to the bazaar activities, this department is making a special feature of National Education week, also formulating plans for sponsoring a Girl Scout troop, and anticipating its annual Christmas party at the home of the curator, Mrs. C. G. Putnam, "Whispering Pines," 424 North Glendale avenue.

Book Prizes Donated

Many prizes have been donated for the book debate contest held by the department. These prizes are on display at the Shafe book store on South Brand boulevard.

At the meeting yesterday Miss Elsa Becker, national Girl Scout executive, and Mrs. W. R. Wichert, secretary of the Glendale Girl Scout council, were speakers. The birthday of Robert Louis Stevenson was celebrated. Mrs. Willis Emery Lusby, in charge, told of his life and works. Mrs. Emil Johnson reviewed articles on "Fairy Tales" and "The Funny Paper in the Life of the Child." Readings from Robert Louis Stevenson were given by Mrs. George R. Postle. A clever pianologue of Stevenson's poem, "My Shadow," was given by Jane Piercey.
